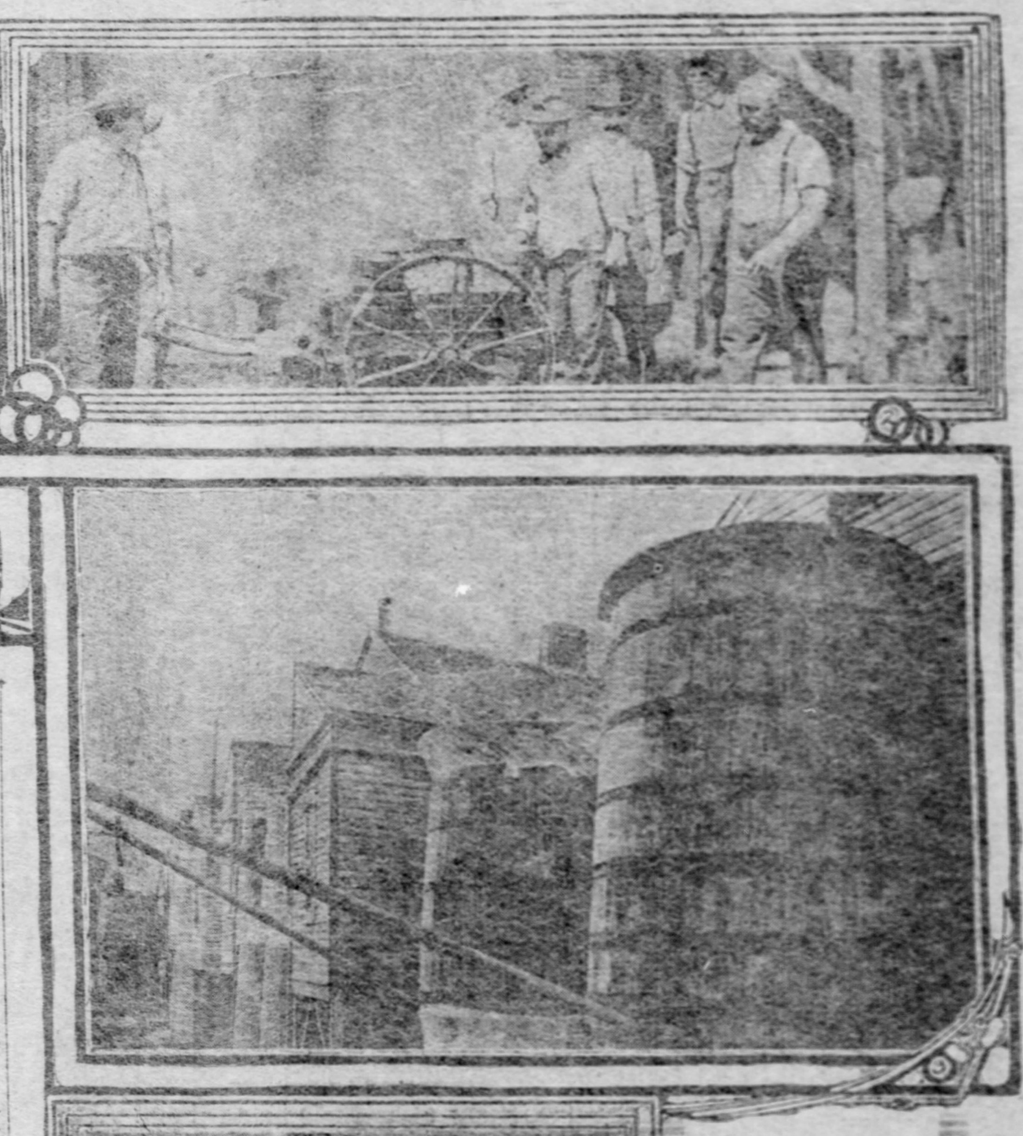
SCENES IN CRESCENT CITY WHERE SIXTY-THREE NEW FEVER CASES ARE REPORTED



DEATH COMES TO CHAPELLE

Archbishop Falls Victim to the Scourge in New Orleans.

SEVEN MORE DEAD

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 9.—The official report on the yellow fever situation up to 6 o'clock tonight was as follows:

Deaths today, 7.
New cases, 63.
New sub-foci, 12.
Total deaths, 119.
Total cases, 879.
Cases under treatment, 265.
Total sub-foci, 130.

The first day since the fever appeared here, in which there was any apparent depression in the community, was today. There were two reasons for it. One was the death today of Archbishop Chapelle, who succumbed to the fever. The other was the general closing of stores in accordance with the mayor's proclamation urging everybody in the city to devote the day to a general home cleaning-up.

Quite a number of the new cases are in close proximity to existing disease centers, indicating secondary infection. The new centers are evenly divided, six being above and six below Canal street. One is in a hotel, and the patient is a well-known citizen. In the death list all but one of the names indicate foreign origin, showing no variation from the preceding records.

White in Active Control.

Surgeon White took active control of the whole local situation today, and opened a new set of offices in the Louisiana National bank building, which had been placed at his disposal by the bank. He inspected the emergency hospital and took formal charge, retaining the present staff. Three of the officers assigned, arrived today. Surgeon Blue and Assistant Surgeons F. C. Smith and E. M. Steger. Several others will be here tomorrow. Dr. Paul M. Gessner, a local physician, has been placed in immediate charge of the sanitation work, with five assistants.

Archbishop Chapelle.

Gov. Blanchard telegraphed today, that more than a majority of the members of the legislature had replied favoring the appropriation of $100,000 to the fever fund, so the loan will be effected with the financial agents tomorrow. The city's contribution of $50,000 will be available in a day or two.

News outside of the city shows that there are only two new cases at Patterson, and one case in a new locality in St. Charles' parish. Another of the Italians at Bon Ami in Calcasieu parish, died today. Dr. George H. Tichenor and two nurses were sent there today.

Archbishop Chapelle's death, while generally deplored, is not taken as a refutation of the medical fraternity's opinion that with good care and proper treatment the number of deaths is not likely to be large in proportion to the number of cases.

Victim of Mosquito.

What is held remarkable is that the archbishop should have contracted the disease so quickly, whereas he had spent many years in Cuba and Porto Rico, where the disease is epidemic, without having contracted it there. Among the

OLD ENEMIES MEET AGAIN

Guns Boom Greeting from Two Great Navies to England's King.

KAISER'S BOAT THERE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTSMOUTH, ENGLAND, Aug. 9.—King Edward celebrated the anniversary of his coronation today by reviewing the combined French and British fleets, aggregating some 70 ships. As a spectacle, the event was somewhat marred by gloomy and showery weather.

The royal yacht, Victoria and Albert, weighed anchor at 10:20 and followed by a few privileged yachts, slowly passed down the lines of the fleets. As King Edward approached the French and British flagships, the firing of a royal salute commenced and the entire combined fleets joined in a salvo of 101 guns. His majesty, wearing the uniform of an admiral, stood alone on the bridge of the royal yacht at salute. All the ships were dressed and manned and their bands played "God Save the King."

The review lasted an hour, and then the Victoria and Albert returned to her moorings. Later the king proceeded to the battleship Massena, the French flagship, where he was the guest of Vice Admiral Caillard at luncheon. The prince of Wales and duke of Connaught accompanied his majesty.

The French fleet then weighed anchor and entered Portsmouth harbor. As the Frenchmen passed in, Nelson's flagship, the Victory, from the peak of which the tricolor was flying, saluted them in turn, while bands massed on her deck played the "Marsellaise." The Frenchmen replied to salutes of the Victory.

As soon as the ships were docked the civil and military officials paid formal calls on them, which were later returned by the French officers.

The presence of a torpedo boat destroyer flying the German flag between the columns of ships at the conclusion of the king's review, caused comment. It was learned, however, that she had come from Kiel to tow back Emperor William's yacht Meteor, which had been undergoing repairs at Portsmouth.

The French officers were banquetted at the naval barracks. Speeches were made by the prince of Wales, Admiral Caillard and Admiral Sir John Fisher. Toasts to President Loubet and the prince of wales were enthusiastically honored.

WILL REBUILD AT ONCE.

Fashionable St. Thomas' Church Will Be Grander Than One Destroyed by Fire Tuesday.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Announcement that a new $500,000 church edifice, almost an exact duplicate of the fine St. Thomas' Episcopal church which burned yesterday in the heart of New York's fashionable residence section, will be built immediately on the old site, was made today by the Rev. Ernest M. Stires, the pastor. Contracts have already been let to build on the same site a $35,000 temporary structure over the roof of which the new church will be raised. Large sums of money for the new edifice have been offered to the Rev. Mr. Stires. One check alone was for $50,000.

Thousands of People from New Possessions Pay Respects to Secretary of War.

MANILA, Aug. 9.—Thousands of people attended the reception given to Secretary Taft, Miss Alice Roosevelt and the other members of their party, by the Army and Navy club tonight. Rear Admiral Enquist of the American navy and his staff were present. The reception was the most brilliant in the history of Manila.

During the morning the party in automobiles, inspected new Fort McKinley and reviewed the troops.

Loses His Light and His Life.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—Lighting a toby and saying that he was going to swim across the stream three times without letting it go out, James W. Meyers, aged 21 years, of Outcrop, Pa., leaped into the Youghiogheny river above here this afternoon and was drowned. His companion, W. H. Bruce, attempted to rescue him but failed. His body has not been recovered.

CENTRAL TO USE ELECTRIC CARS

Great New York Railroad Will Introduce New Power Within Another Year.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The New York Central has just placed an order for 35 new electric locomotives to haul the through trains of the system into New York City, and for 175 cars to be used in the suburban service. The total order is said to aggregate over $5,000,000 for electrical equipment.

The engines are to be built by the General Electric company and the American Locomotive company at Schenectady, N. Y., and are to be ready by August 1, 1906. Each of these mammoth engines will weigh 96 tons, have eight driving wheels with a diameter of 44 inches, and be of 2,300 horsepower. They can attain a speed of 72 miles an hour.

The New York Central proposes to bring about this total elimination of steam trains in New York City within the next five years. Within one year the equipment mentioned above will be ready for work, and it will be followed by other orders.

NEW GLASS AGREEMENT.

Burns' Organization Closes With the Manufacturers and Secures Work All the Year.

SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—The agreement reached between the Burns organization of glass workers, local assembly No. 300, Knights of Labor, and the National Association of Window Glass Manufacturers at Cedar Point is the most far-reaching of any in the last 20 years.

As announced late tonight the agreement is a long step toward the open shop. It provides for work in the factories the year around, winter and summer alike, and means a contest with the Amalgamated Association of Window Glass Workers. The agreement now includes four branches of the trade, the blowers, gatherers, cutters and flatteners.

Rockefeller regarding the affairs of the great institution. Dr. Harper will devote all his time and energy to battling with the cancer that threatens his life.

GREAT BREWERY COMBINE IS ON

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 9.—Cleveland capitalists are planning to control the entire beer output of Pennsylvania outside of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Negotiations will be opened with the Pennsylvania Brewing Company of Scranton, which is capitalized at $10,000,000 and owns and controls the 17 leading breweries in the northeastern section of the state.

Henry Rochnik, acting in behalf of a Cleveland syndicate, has just made a cash offer of $5,900,000 for seven big breweries of Reading, and the sale will, in all likelihood, be effected before the week is out.

The Reading breweries involved in the transaction have an annual output of about $250,000 barrels, netting them an income of $1,500,000. The breweries are the Reading, capitalized at $300,000; Muhlenberg, $75,000; Deppen, $25,000; Peter Bardey & Sons, Lauer and J. G. Stockner, individual plants.

130 MILES IN 102 MINUTES.

Pennsylvania Special Establishes a New Long Distance Record Between Crestline and Ft. Wayne.

CRESTLINE, O., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—All records for long distance running were broken by the Pennsylvania special this morning when the distance between Crestline and Fort Wayne, 130 miles, was covered by Engineer Jerry McCarthy with the five cars in 102 minutes.

The train was 23 minutes late leaving Crestline and when McCarthy said he would go into Ft. Wayne on time it was said to be impossible, as the best previous time was 112 minutes, made by the same train and engineer several weeks ago. The average rate of nearly 80 miles per hour is considered by railroad officials to be the most remarkable instance of long distance running known to railroad history.

Better Docking Facilities Promised.

COLON, Aug. 9.—Chairman T. P. Shonts of the canal commission last night conferred with steamship agents before sailing for the United States on the Mexico. He told the agents that as soon as possible the docking facilities would be enlarged, and advised them to consult with Chief Engineer Stevens.

OUTLOOK IS PESSIMISTIC

Japan's Terms Will Preclude Peace Treaty, It Is Believed.

THE SESSIONS OPEN

M. Witte Shows His Credentials, but Baron Komura Does Not Bring His.

ENGLISH AND FRENCH USED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 9.—With the probability that Baron Komura will tomorrow reveal to the Russian plenipotentiaries the terms on which Japan is willing to conclude peace, opinion as to the outcome among those who are congregated here to watch the proceedings has become decidedly pessimistic. This is due to the growing conviction that Japan's conditions will not prove as moderate as at one time anticipated and, especially in the matter of indemnity, may preclude the possibility of their acceptance by the Russian envoys as a basis of negotiation.

The firm attitude of M. Witte in private conversation against the payment of an indemnity, and the insistent reports emanating from Japanese quarters that a stiff war contribution approximating the cost of the war, variously stated at from $600,000,000 to $900,000,000, constitutes one of Japan's demands, indicates a wide, if not an irreconcilable difference between Japan's irreducible minimum and what Russia is prepared to accept.

Upon the question of the payment of a large indemnity the instructions of the Russian plenipotentiaries are believed to admit of no concessions, although it is possible a certain compensation in kind might be arranged. For instance, it is suggested that for the relinquishment of the island of Sakhalin, now potentially in Japan's hands, the possession of which by Japan would give her command of the whole Siberian littoral, Russia could with propriety pay a large sum.

Komura Forgets Credentials.

The first meeting of the plenipotentiaries today was of an entirely informal character, so informal, in fact, that Baron Komura did not bring his letter of credence to the Portsmouth navy yard, whereas M. White was armed with the original document in Russian, setting forth the powers conferred upon him, and also with a translation of the document. The latter he read.

Baron Komura was embarrassed and offered to send back to the hotel for his credentials, but M. White expressed his faith that the credentials were full and ample, and it was arranged that official exchange of credentials should be made tomorrow. Later in the afternoon, however, copies of the credentials were informally exchanged in order that they might be examined before the meeting tomorrow.

It is known that the credentials differ slightly. In exactly what respect could not be ascertained tonight, but the Associated Press is assured both by the Japanese and Russian emissaries that the difference is not essential and constitutes no obstacle to the official opening of the negotiations. Indeed, the president was officially informed tonight that the credentials were full, ample and satisfactory to both sides.

Two Daily Sessions.

It was decided today to hold two daily sessions, one in the morning, beginning at 9:30, and one in the afternoon beginning at 3. To avoid delay and give the plenipotentiaries and delegates time for consultation between sessions, it has been arranged that luncheon will be served at the navy yard and the envoys upon leaving their quarters in the morning will not return until the afternoon session adjourns. Three secretaries for each side will be in attendance to draw up the protocols of the meetings, which will be written in both English and French.

The French text, however, in case of dispute, will be accepted in evidence. The official versions of today's meeting, given out by each side, described it as "satisfactory." Other accounts indicate that while everything passed off amicably, considerable reserve was displayed on both sides. Baron Komura, whom Mr. White had met in St. Petersburg during the former's service as Japanese minister there, was pleasantly greeted by the chief Russian envoy in French, but the baron was obliged to shake his head and turn to his secretary, Mr. Honda, who explained that Baron Komura had forgotten the little French he knew while in St. Petersburg.

Terms Expected Today.

While the Russian plenipotentiaries expect the Japanese to present the Japanese terms immediately upon the official exchange of credentials tomorrow, they admit they are in the dark. Baron Komura and his colleagues decline to give any intimation of their course of procedure. Pursuing the tactics which they have constantly followed in all their diplomatic and military operations, they are carefully guarding all their plans regarding the present meeting.

There was some disposition today to attribute Baron Komura's forgetfulness in not bringing his credentials to the meeting to a desire to spar for time. For that reason, some doubt was expressed whether the Japanese would show their hand tomorrow, but the Russian envoys do not question Baron Komura's good faith and frankly say it was due to a misunderstanding.

This evening the amenities were observed by a general exchange of cards, M. White, Baron Rosen and his suite sending theirs through the hotel office, while the cards of the Japanese mission were left at the doors of the members of the Russian mission by a little Japanese messenger boy.

Reporters Break the Ice.

The Japanese and the Russian newspaper correspondents have broken the ice and have begun to fraternize. It is perhaps significant that the correspondents on both sides are sending to their respec-

The Gazette presents today reproductions of photographs taken in the yellow fever districts in New Orleans, giving an insight into conditions there. It was with difficulty that a photographer could be secured to do the work, as the pictures show that he had to go close to the infected places to get the best results.

No. 1 shows a cistern screening gang at work. If the occupants of a house refuse admittance the officers arrest them and while they are gone in jail the crew does the work.

No. 2 shows the Marine hospital corps disinfecting a house with sulphur. The fumes pouring from the house are seen in the picture.

No. 3 shows a cistern in Carondelet street screened to prevent the breeding of the stegomyia, fasciata, the yellow fever mosquito. After oiling with kerosene the sheets which screens are placed over the tops to prevent more mosquitoes getting in.

No. 4 shows a 12-year-old Italian boy leaving an ambulance at the Dupuaire street yellow fever hospital. He is in the first stages of the disease and has volunteered to go to the hospital. Dr. M. T. Lamark is with him.

HIS LONG WALK FUTILE

Man Who Tramps 3,000 Miles to Save Wife Finds Her Living With Another Man.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 9.—William Gregory of Los Angeles arrived here today after having walked 3,000 miles to save his divorced wife from the penitentiary. She married William Turner after separating from Gregory, and some time ago she and Turner had trouble, during which he was cut with a razor.

The wife was arrested, but Turner refused to prosecute. Then she was freed. While in jail she wrote to Gregory that she was in trouble. Then he started, only to find out on arrival here that the trouble was all over and she was living with Turner again.

"I wouldn't have anything happen to her for the sake of our two boys," said Gregory, who didn't wait to see his wife, but started for home Wednesday.

AN EXAMPLE HIMSELF

Prof. Starr Says Barbarity in Child Is Largely Due to Mother's Training.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Is woman responsible for what barbarity there is in the world?

In a lecture before his class in anthropology, Prof. Starr put himself on record as believing that in those races in which children are brought up wholly under the direction of the mother there is more barbarity than in those races where the young are reared under the guiding influence of the father.

The students regarded their instructor rather fixedly when he concluded his remarks by saying: "I was brought up by my mother, but if I had been brought up by my father instead, I would not have been so barbarous."

Lord Curzon to Retire.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The Daily Telegraph says that the reports of the forthcoming resignation of Lord Curzon are at least premature, but it says it has "Reason to believe that that contingency is not improbable." The afternoon papers have revived a report of strained relations between Lord Curzon and Lord Kitchener, which is likely to result in the viceroy's retirement even before the prince of Wales visits India.

Flees to Freedom and to Death.

tive Romes dispatches of anything but an optimistic character.

In the opinion of the Russians, the emperor's manifesto promulgating the national assembly project will materially strengthen the position of the Russian envoys by relieving the internal situation.

Because the Russians like to smoke while at the table, the entire Russian mission tonight dined in their apartments, a practice which they have decided to continue hereafter.

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—Commander A. Rousaine, former naval attache of the Russian legation at Tokyo, and more recently chief naval adviser of Gen. Linevitch, passed through Boston today on his way to Portsmouth, N. H. He will serve as a special adviser to the Russian plenipotentiaries on naval questions.

THE EYES OF FRANCE ARE FOCUSSED ON AMERICA

Paris Papers Vie With Each Other in Publishing Most News from the Seat of Peace Conference.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

PARIS, Aug. 9.—Not for a long time has America been watched by European eyes with such keen attention as at present. From being a matter of secondary interest, American news has suddenly become a subject of primary importance.

If the French papers had made a wager to decide which could publish the most details about the Russo-Japanese negotiations at Portsmouth, N. H., they could not display more ingenuity, energy and enterprise. In fact, the Paris papers now contain more American cable dispatches in a day than they formerly did in a month. This interest is mainly due to uneasiness about the issue of the peace conference, though there is no real ground for anxiety, as M. Hardulin points out in a very sensible article in today's Matin.

"You will see," he remarks, "the matter will be arranged satisfactorily. It is even extremely probable both sides were more or less in agreement before the plenipotentiaries left. One of the most asinine stupidities that has been uttered in connection with the peace negotiations is the report that Russia cannot pay a war indemnity, as it would be humiliation. Why is it more humiliating to pay an indemnity than to accept any other condition imposed by the victor?

"On the contrary, there is a certain advantage in being able to get out of a tight place by a financial sacrifice. The Russians, therefore, would do well to examine the Japanese propositions calmly and discuss them in a similar spirit, for Russia has reached a point in her history when she has not means to indulge in a policy or sentiment."

HARMONY AT CONFERENCE.

It Will at Least Be of the Brass Band Variety, Thanks to Gov. McLain and General Chafee.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Harmony of one kind at least will prevail at the sojourn of the peace envoys in Portsmouth. Several days ago Gov. McLain of New Hampshire called the attention of Third Assistant Secretary of State Peirce to the fact that Fort Constitution at Portsmouth was without a military band, and that a little military music at odd times might be acceptable to M. Witte.

Mr. Peirce wrote to Gen. Chaffee and Gen. Chaffee has ordered the Tenth Artillery band from Fort Banks, in Massachusetts, to Fort Constitutions to give occasional concerts to the envoys.

POLITICIANS GATHER TODAY AT WHITE SULPHUR

Building Organization to Do Battle With West Virginia State Administration.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 9.—The White Sulphur Springs conference at West Virginia, a political drama which had for its plot the defeat of Senator Elkins, will be re-enacted in Parkersburg tomorrow. Tonight the advance guard of the so-called "insurgents" has arrived and tomorrow several of the prominent politicians in the state will be here for a powwow.

Since the Elkins interview published in a dispatch from this place recently, there has been little open opposition to the senator, but there is yet much under cover which leads to speculation. It is understood that the particular significance of the meeting here tomorrow means the furtherance of the organization of the anti-state administration Republicans, and incidentally a talk on the Elkins interview and on the policy of this wing of the party with reference to the senatorial situation.

Among those who will be here are C. E. Teter, Judge Blizzard, Senator O. S. Marshall, Col. Ran Stalnaker, Senator Samuel Montgomery, the father of the original meeting at White Sulphur Springs; J. W. Burchinal of Moundsville, and a score of others.

Opposition to Elkins has weakened and every one has been wondering what the conference now could hope to accomplish. It has become manifest, however, that the ultimate purpose is recognition for this wing of the party with the defeat of the present state administration in view when there is again a state election.

WOULD ESCAPE PAYMENT.

West Virginia Concern Tries to Avoid Bill of Pittsburgh Company.

"It is simply a case of a concern failing to pay for work done and then trying to escape from its liability," said A. L. Schultz of the Pittsburgh Engineering Company last evening, referring to the injunction granted by Judge Doolittle of Huntington, W. Va., in favor of the Kanawha Water and Light Company.

The Pittsburgh company has six bonds of $1,000 each of the Kanawha company as collateral security. The injunction restrains the Pittsburgh company from selling or otherwise disposing of the bonds.

May Be Frank Lyon's Body.

Mrs. Charles Messick of McKees Rocks fears that the body of the murdered man found near North Adams, Mass., is that of her brother, Frank Lyon, who has been missing from his sister's home in Brooklyn for three weeks past. Until Mrs. Messick hears from her sister, who is in better position to identify the body, nothing will be done toward the disposition of the remains. Lyon was the son of former Mayor Lyon of this city.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WOOSTER, O., Aug. 9.—The deposition of Capt. William R. Folwell of the Eighteenth infantry, was the first matter taken up this morning in the Taggart divorce case. It was as follows:

"On the evening of June 30, 1903, I was with Capt. Taggart, and he was perfectly sober. I asked him to have a drink with me before we parted and he declined. Capt. Wiggins, of the Twelfth infantry, asked me next day to write a statement of Capt. William Taggart's condition as to sobriety on the preceding evening."

The statement of Charles H. Hulbert was read to the effect that Mrs. Taggart's income from investments made by her father is $110 a month. During the argument over the admission of this statement Attorney Wertz said that the plaintiff would not ask for alimony. Attorney Smyser replied: "If the court grants my client the divorce we will not ask for alimony."

Thomas Moraldo, the Filipino valet, of Capt. Taggart, then took the stand. He was with Capt. Taggart at Fort Leavenworth. He testified that Gen. Miner called on Mrs. Taggart twice while the captain was confined in the hospital. On one of these visits the general came alone," Moraldo continued.

Fortesque Visits Mrs. Taggart.

"One night about 9 o'clock, while the captain was in Kansas City, Lieut. Fortesque called on Mrs. Taggart, and Mrs. Taggart came out to the kitchen and told me I could go to bed. The next morning Lieut. Fortesque called on Mrs. Taggart again, and she received him in her night dress. The next day he called again and I let him in. He asked where Mrs. Taggart was, and I told him she was upstairs in her room. He went right on upstairs and found Mrs. Taggart in her night gown. He remained about an hour with Mrs. Taggart, then came downstairs without her and left the house. I frequently saw Mrs. Taggart smoke cigarets. One evening Mrs. Taggart entertained Mrs. Vose, Mrs. Breeze and three officers at dinner, and they drank champagne, whisky and beer."

On cross-examination the witness said he presided over the punch bowl at the cotillion given at Fort Leavenworth in April, 1903. After the cotillion broke up a party of the guests went to the Taggart home. He never saw anything improper take place between Gen. Miner and Mrs. Taggart.

Attorney Smyser attempted, time after time, in his cross-examination to break down Moraldo's story of Lieut. Fortesque's visit to Mrs. Taggart for about an hour in her bedroom on a Sunday afternoon, while Capt. Taggart was away on duty at Kansas City. Moraldo finally remembered that this entertainment took place in Capt. Taggart's den, where there was a lounge and some chairs.

"Billy's" Hair Was Uncombed.

At the afternoon session Mrs. C. D. Boyd, of Orville, took the stand and testified that one morning she saw "Billy" Taggart at the pump in Mrs. Taggart's yard, getting water. He was in his shirt sleeves with his hair uncombed and looked as though he had just arisen from bed and gone for some water.

Howard Taggart was recalled to the stand for cross-examination by Attorney Smyser to tell of his (Howard's) efforts to effect a reconciliation between the captain and his wife, unauthorized by his brother, but Mrs. Taggart refused to consider such a thing except upon her own terms.

"You always kissed and embraced your sister-in-law (Mrs. Taggart) when you visited her, didn't you?" asked Attorney Smyser. Witness admitted that he generally did.

"After the Ryther incident?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did it occur to you when you were kissing and embracing this little sister woman, that you were kissing and embracing an unfaithful wife?"

"I cannot say that it did occur to me at the time," answered the witness.

"That's all," said Smyser.

Mrs. Taggart Weeps.

Mrs. Taggart, for the first time during the trial, broke into tears, at this testimony.

Mrs. Morrow Taggart, the plaintiff's mother, was recalled and asked to identify a plan of her house handed her by Attorney Smyser, showing the room in which she and her husband slept and its relation to the sitting room in which she discovered Mrs. Taggart and "Billy" in the dark.

At this point Mr. Stirling being confined to his bed, and witnesses subpenaed for the plaintiff not having arrived, Judge Eason adjourned court until Thursday morning.

STREET RIOT IS STARTED BY DRUNKEN POLICEMAN

Attacks Two Men at Highland and Penn Avenues Who Are Beaten by Officers—Citizens Compel Arrest of Bluecoat.

A drunken policeman, using his mace too freely, caused a small riot at Highland and Penn avenues about 7 o'clock last evening, in which Jerry McDonough, the policeman charged with being intoxicated, two civilians and several other bluecoats were engaged. Of course the two civilians got the worst of it, being attacked by the combined police power which came to McDonough's assistance, after he had made the attack on the two men.

McDonough is a reserve officer, and last night was assigned to special reserve duty at Kenwood Lawn. He was on a North Highland car, on his way to report for duty at No. 6 station, when he got into a dispute with C. C. McGee of Culver street. McDonough and McGee left the car at Penn and Highland avenues and McGee was holding a conversation with Cyrus Rose of Center avenue, who was waiting at the corner for a car, when McDonough approached the men and attacked both with his mace.

Ross was struck on the head and received a bad scalp wound. McGee was also badly cut and bruised. Both men turned on the policeman to defend themselves, and gave McDonough several hard fist blows in the face. A crowd of fully 500 people collected and several policemen came to McDonough's aid. McGee and Ross were badly beaten. They were arrested and hauled off to No. 6 station.

Samuel L. McClements, a member of the firm of Randolph & McClements, florists, Baum and Highland avenues, was one of a number of citizens who demanded the arrest of McDonough. McDonough grabbed McClements and attempted to put him under arrest. An hour or two after a delegation of citizens called at the police station and insisted that McDonough be placed under arrest.

Lieut. Andrew McNett, who had refused to arrest McDonough, finally had a charge of drunkenness placed against McDonough on the blotter, but he was not locked up, as were Ross and McGee. McDonough was permitted afterward to do duty at Kenwood Lawn for the remainder of the night. Citizens who witnessed the affair say the assault on McGee and Ross was unprovoked.

STRIKING BAKERS RIOT; POLICE HAVE TROUBLE

Shops Are Wrecked and Bread is Scattered Over New York's Streets.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Frequent outbreaks of rioting calling for drastic action by the police, marked the course of the strike of the Hebrew bakers on the East Side today. In an attack on a bakery in Allen street, 50 rioters broke into the place, wrecked it and upset flour and dough in the street.

A committee of 100 sent to a bakery in Orchard street to induce non-union workmen to quit, attacked the shop, hearing of which hundreds of strikers rushed from the meeting to the scene of conflict. A patrol wagon, bringing a squad of reserves, was assaulted by the mob, who stopped the horses and even dragged some of the men from their seats. The rest charged the mob through a rain of bottles and bricks that poured from the roofs and windows. After ten minutes' hard fighting the mob was dispersed and two men, both severely injured, were arrested. The shop was wrecked.

At many points on the East Side wagons carrying bread were attacked, the drivers beaten and the contents thrown into the street.

John Heintz, secretary of the National Union of Kosher Bakers, will arrive tomorrow from Chicago to take charge of the strike. A request was sent tonight to the International Union of Chicago to call out the English-speaking bakers.

Throughout the whole lower East Side a bread famine was general among the Hebrews, for the people not only refused to eat any but kosher bread, but appeared to be bent on destroying all the bread of that character which they could lay their hands on.

HAVE MET TO PROBE LIFE INSURANCE METHODS

Commissioners from Seven States Gather in Gotham to Conduct Independent Investigation.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Insurance commissioners representing seven important states of the middle west will arrive in New York tomorrow morning to begin an independent inquiry into the insurance methods pursued by the large New York companies which do an extensive business in those states.

As the representatives of Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, Insurance Commissioner Post of Wisconsin, O'Brien of Minnesota, Prewitt of Kentucky, and Folk of Tennessee—the last-named a brother of Gov. Folk of Missouri—will gather at the Hoffman house tomorrow morning and at noon will meet with the special New York legislative committee of investigation.

Commissioners of the states named met a few days ago in Chicago and decided that in the interest of the policy holders of their commonwealths an independent investigation should be made. The opinion was expressed that where politics is so interwoven with the question at issue a full and impartial expose of the workings of the companies is hardly to be expected at the hands of a New York legislative committee.

DEATH CLAIMS CHAPELLE

scientific men there is little doubt that the archbishop fell a victim to a mosquito during a brief visit he paid to the old archbishopric on Chartres street, or from an insect which found its way into his residence in Esplanade avenue, which is not far from the territory within which there has been infection.

Archbishop Chapelle was fleshy, full-blooded and past 60 years of age. The disease made steady inroads and yesterday he was found to be in a critical condition. When Dr. La Rue saw him today the patient showed increased weakness. Before noon there was an alarming change for the worse. Eminent physicians were immediately summoned for consultation, but the archbishop was beyond succor. The end came with great rapidity.

Is Lying in State.

The body of the archbishop was transferred at 2 o'clock from his residence on Esplanade avenue to St. Louis cathedral, where it is lying in state in a closed coffin. The obsequies will take place at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the cathedral. There will be a Gregorian requiem high mass sung, every member of the Catholic clergy of the city participating. The Very Rev. Father Lavelle, vicar general of the diocese, will be the celebrant and the eulogy will be pronounced by Bishop G. A. Bouzel.

The remains will be interred in the crypt in the cathedral, where the archbishop's predecessors repose. There will be none of the clergy from other points in the archdiocese present because of their inability to return to their homes on account of quarantine restrictions.

While Archbishop Chapelle held a pastorate in Washington he formed friendships with men of prominence in national affairs. Among them William McKinley.

The Archbishop's Career.

While apostolic delegate to the Philippines the archbishop spent much time in the settlement of conditions growing out of the change of sovereignty in the islands. During his stay in Manila, Mgr. Chapelle and Secretary of War Taft, then governor general of the islands, became friends. When Secretary Taft passed through New Orleans several months ago on his way to Panama, the archbishop entertained Secretary Taft at a formal function in the archiepiscopal palace.

Three years ago Archbishop Chapelle was relieved of the responsibility of his mission to the Philippines, but continued his jurisdiction over Cuba and Porto Rico. He made frequent visits to both islands and was constantly in touch with all the work of his vast diocese.

During his stay in New Orleans the archbishop has lived with his niece, Miss Soulignac, and they have been inseparable companions. The archbishop was a man of ability and intellectual attainments. He was fond of social life and was a constant entertainer, drawing to his home the most representative people in the social and intellectual life of New Orleans.

Dr. George H. Tichenor, Jr., and two trained yellow fever nurses left here today in a special train over the Southern Pacific and Kansas City Southern for Bon Ami, La., where, it is understood, the fever is increasing. The trip is in response to an appeal which reached Gov. Blanchard this morning. The state board of health received a report from Tallulah, La., today of two suspicious cases there.

JACKSON, MISS., Aug. 9.—Surgeon Young of the marine hospital service left here today to investigate suspicious cases at Yazoo City, Miss.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Aug. 9.—The local authorities today decided not to establish a city quarantine in connection with the state, but to have a registration bureau at the railroad station, where all persons will be required to give oath and register.

Cardinal Had No Idea That Archbishop Chapelle's Illness Was of So Serious a Nature.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—Cardinal Gibbons was informed of the death of Archbishop Chapelle when he arrived in this city this evening. He said:

"The news is a great shock to me. Before leaving Baltimore this morning I received a dispatch from him, commending himself to my prayers. And this was the first knowledge I had that his illness was so serious, or that the end was near."

FAILS TO STOP CALF KILLING

RACES DRAW A BIG CROWD

The Western Pennsylvania Humane society did not succeed Saturday afternoon in eliminating the star features from the program of the picnic of the Retail Butchers' and Meat Dealers' Protective association at Calhoun park. The Burroughs club of America and Agent George H. Lightcap of the Humane society made strenuous opposition to the slaughter of calves and lambs. A controversy sprung up but it was soon settled. The butchers explained that they planned a contest to show who could convert a six-weeks' old calf into veal steak in the shortest time, and that a similar race would be made in the art of converting sheep into mutton.

Agent Lightcap couldn't understand, and the event in consequence was delayed. Finally the butchers said that the killing would occur down over the hill and that the public would not be privileged to witness the slaughter. While the debate was still going on it was arranged to begin the contest and soon the dead carcasses of several calves were brought up and laid on the table. Michael Eberhard, Otto Dengler and Louis Kohle, Jr., the contestants, had to whirl their knives and cleavers to do the work. The contestants in lamb killing were William Oechsnhirt, George Eberhart and A. E. Stumpf.

The slaughtering contest, however, seemed to concern only a small part of the crowd. While hundreds stood looking on and awaiting the decision, there were other athletes equally ready to show their prowess. The pig, resplendent in a coat of grease, stood grunting as if challenging all comers. The greasy pole was ready and fat men (fellows who would easily tip the scales at 250 pounds or more) were busy sweating the ascent. When it came they went up in a bunch. George Bauer and Louis Kohle, Jr., were adjudged the winners in the calf-killing contest and George Oechsnhirt and George Eberhart were the victors in the sheep-killing bout. The agreement of the judges it was not reached until late last night. Mr. Bauer will receive a set of killing tools and refrigerator and the winner in the lamb-killing contest will get a fine leather couch donated by Pickering's.

The prizes rather favored fat men. This, of course, was perfectly natural at a butchers' convention. There was the professional fat race and the fat men's for-all. The fat ladies' race was for good-looking women weighing 150 pounds or more. In this there seemed to be no end of entries. In the lean men's race there were fewer entries, because it was declared, lean men were scarce at a butchers' gathering.

It was unfortunate that the field contests had been postponed to such a late hour. The program got mixed up toward the end and the runners and those scheduled to run got unanimously mixed up.

It is always thus at an amateur field meet. At the close of the afternoon many wanted to leave the grounds while others kept coming in. The thin ladies had scarcely finished their race when the orchestra began to play. The sounds of the two-step sent hundreds scurrying away from the refreshment pavilion to the dancing pavilion. Charles I. Klemfer, Jr., and H. G. Kreiling, the president and secretary of the executive committee, seemed perplexed for a minute, but they understood the whims of the crowd and the dance went on with a merry whirl.

DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID BY MISTAKE AND DIES

Leshnak Lives Nearly 24 Hours After Taking the Poison—Car Claims Another Victim.

Peter Leshnak, aged 37, of 204 Jerome street, McKeesport, died yesterday morning, as the result of taking carbolic acid by mistake. He lived for almost 24 hours after taking the acid, during which time two physicians worked to save his life. Leshnak was single and employed in the National tube works.

A coroner's inquest into the death of Lillian Leyden, aged 8, who was found dead last Sunday morning in front of 111 Water street, McKeesport, was held yesterday afternoon. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental death. Little Lyden was thrown on the woman's death by the evidence at the inquest. The supposition is that she fell from a window.

Bernard Sterner, a miner, aged 60, died yesterday afternoon at the Allegheny General hospital of injuries received by being struck by a Western bound car yesterday morning, near the Ft. Wayne bridge. Straimer started across the street in front of the car, and did not notice that it was running into a switch. His skull was fractured and he never regained consciousness.

Michael Shant died at 11 o'clock last night at St. Joseph's hospital, South Side. He was employed by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company and on Monday was struck by the cage of an elevator, the injury causing his death. Shant was 30 years of age, married, and lived at 1006 Elizabeth street, Hazelwood.

CITY EMPLOYES ARE IN REVOLT

Allegheny Payroll Refuses to Sign Yellow Book for Another Two Per Cent Assessment.

WYMAN WIRES SCANDRETT

The Allegheny payroll is in revolt against the yellow book that Mayor Wyman started out on its mission less than a week ago.

So serious is the state of affairs that Wyman has sent for his public safety director, Thomas B. Scandrett, who for several weeks has been camping with the American Hunting and Fishing club on Chesapeake bay, about 35 miles from Baltimore. Scandrett will arrive today and will meet the mayor at once. Together they will endeavor to bring the indignant city employes to a proper state of mind concerning the new 2 per cent assessment. From the look of things on the North Side they have set themselves no easy task.

With the 2 per cent that was extracted from a reluctant payroll last December and January, this latest demand makes 4 per cent within six months that has been sought by the avaricious ring machine. No one seems to hesitate in placing the responsibility for the new hardship, and Mayor Wyman is being talked about rather harshly in every part of the city.

Revolt in Pumping Station.

Strange as it may seem, the revolt is a real one. Special Policeman Charles Justice, who does what is called "all private work" in which the mayor and Scandrett are interested, was delegated to carry the yellow book around from one engine house to another, and to other places where the city has employes. He met his first rebuff Tuesday at the Howard street pumping station. Here the 20 employes rose up in their wrath at the appearance of the hated yellow volume and declared to a man that any one that got money from them for political or other purposes would have to throw them down and take it from them by force.

Justice laid the book down on the foreman's desk and trotted back to city hall to report to the mayor. This demonstration nonplussed Wyman, and he telegraphed Scandrett. The latter has advised the mayor to several shrewd political tricks in the past two years, and Wyman has confidence in him. Scandrett started home yesterday and will arrive this morning.

It became known in Allegheny yesterday that Scandrett was seriously burned by the explosion of a set-piece last Saturday night while participating in a fireworks display at the American club's camp. Scandrett paid for the display, that is said to have been similar to that given in front of Allegheny City hall on the night of the Fourth of July. It is not known how badly the director was burned, but he required the services of a physician and has been going lame since.

City Light Employes Balk.

The habit of rebellion against assessments seems to have become prevalent, for yesterday the yellow book was ignored at the city light plant, where it made its appearance in the hands of Policeman Justice. There was no hesitation upon the part of the employes at the light plant, and out of more than 20 men only two walked up and submitted to what the others declared was an outrage. Wyman's son works at the light plant and it is known that every position there was filled by personal appointment of the mayor. The treatment the book got there stirred the mayor to unusual anger, but apparently none of the men are frightened.

No attempt has been made yet to inflict the book upon the police. For several days the bluecoats have been expecting to be confronted with it, and last night many of them seemed surprised that it was not presented before the night force was sent out. If the policemen do what they threaten, they will hand the administration as big a setback as did the waterworks and light plant employes. It is different to previous similar occasions, for the police seem to have no fear in expressing their sentiments.

Right under the noses of their superiors a large number of the men last night declared to a Gazette reporter that not a cent would they contribute to the fund that is being raised, no one knows what for, except those responsible for it.

Some of them declare that not a cent was spent in the last councilmanic fight, as the administration had no hope of winning and put up no candidates. The men openly express their belief that of the $15,000 or more raised last winter all that was spent went to the attorneys who defended those who were tried for grafting. Superintendent Cambell is not included in this, for it is known that he financed his own defense and is to continue doing this at his trial next month. It is intimated that the money now being sought is to be used for the same purpose.

AFTER SUE WILLIAMS.

Allegheny Police Again Raid Woman Who Testified in Graft Trials.

The Allegheny police are still after Sue Williams of 62 West Robinson street, who gave testimony for the commonwealth in the recent graft trials. Her house was raided early yesterday morning by a squad under Lieut. Fred Fleck. The Williams woman, three inmates and six visitors were taken. Mrs. Williams was fined $50 and costs and each of the other women $10 and costs. The visitors were assessed $5 and costs each.

Charles Rinehart, who was taken in the raid, was charged with a misdemeanor and was fined $25 and costs or 30 days in the workhouse. Rinehart and the women failed to secure the necessary funds and were taken to jail before noon. The fines were paid later in the day and all were released.

"ALL NATIONS" BANK.

New Institution for the South Side Will Have $75,000 Capital.

"All Nations Deposit bank" is the title given to a projected new financial institution for the South Side. Application for a charter will be made shortly by Attorney H. Fred. Mercer.

The capital of the new concern will be $75,000. The applicants for the charter are Jacob Breiding, Paul A. Klein and John Sobczak. It was stated yesterday by Attorney Mercer that P. V. Obicunies, who is in the steamship business on the South Side, is interested. There are about 70 stockholders. R. F. Schmitt, for 14 years with the German Savings and Deposit bank, will be cashier. The bank will be located at Carson and South Twelfth streets, where the Edgar building has been leased for 10 years. It will open for business about December 1.

Excellence and Elegance.

Mr. G. T. Bell, general passenger and ticket agent of the Grand Trunk railway system, is frequently in receipt of communications from patrons eulogizing the service that is found on Canada's great double track railway. An unsolicited letter of recent date reads as follows:

"I have just returned from the Pacific coast and it may interest you to know that my wife and I immensely enjoyed the run over your road, and you must admit that when a woman is pleased and delighted, she receives something that has the classic touch of excellence and elegance. I am inclined to think that the railroad that pleases a woman is pretty near perfection."

Another letter from a physician of Aiken, South Carolina, reads:

"I had the pleasure of traveling over your line from Portland, Me., to Detroit, Mich., and have no hesitation in saying that your roadbed is one of the smoothest I have ever been on and the night from Montreal to Toronto, the train was as steady as if one had been in a hotel."

The travel over the Grand Trunk is increasing every year and as the excellence of this railroad is becoming known more and more, travelers from all parts are taking the opportunity of riding on the fast trains which this line is noted for in Canada and over their double track route between the principal cities of the east and west.

HAYS AND MOORE NOW IN HARMONY

They Are in Accord on Fenders and on All Other Public Matters.

DIRECTOR WILL HOLD HIS JOB

Mayor Hays is more indefinite than ever as to when another fender test will be made, notwithstanding that President Callery of the Pittsburgh Railways Company has said that a test will occur whenever Mayor Hays or Director Bigelow gives the word.

"A test will be made one of these days, when we get time," was the only promise the mayor made yesterday.

It is becoming more apparent every day that the city administration is perfectly indifferent to the matter and that neither Mayor Hays nor Director Moore will take any action until they are forced to do so by the courts. Perfect harmony seems to exist between the mayor and the director on the fender question and this is taken by many observers as an indication that the director will not be forced out of office as long as he maintains his present attitude regarding fenders and other matters. Although Superintendent "Buck" Wallace and his friends are anxious to have Director Moore displaced, the situation shows the director and the mayor to be more in accord than at any time under the present administration.

No Discord Now.

There is no longer any dispute over gambling houses and speakeasies and the head of the department is not pressing suits against the street car company, as he once threatened to do. The mayor and the director seem to have a perfect understanding, and the mayor declares there is no truth in the report that Director Moore is to be forced out of the cabinet and give up his $416 66 monthly salary.

"Not a single councilman has come to me to say a word against Director Moore."

This is the way that Mayor Hays talks now. A few months ago he told Councilman Gulland, who called to make a complaint against the director:

"Never mind. He will not be there long." About that time Director Moore asserted that councilmen had called upon him and had asked him for unlawful privileges. The curious are wondering at the marked change that has taken place since in the relations between the mayor and chief of the public safety department.

Evidence Being Collected.

Although Mayor Hays and Director Moore still maintain their indifference to the demands of the public and to the protection of human life, the committee of the Pittsburgh board of trade is making preparations for compelling those officials to enforce the fender ordinance against their own will. A. G. Roenigk, chairman of the committee, and Chauncey Loutzler, secretary of the board, are collecting data concerning the deaths of 12 persons who were killed by street cars or who were so badly hurt that they died afterwards.

This data will be used as evidence in the mandamus case which will be brought against Director Moore. It will be used to show the necessity of equipping cars with fenders and to prove that the administration has been criminally negligent in not enforcing the ordinance since it went into power, the first of April two years ago.

While Mayor Hays says he does not know when the next fender test will be made, it is stated that several cars in the Homewood barn are being equipped with devices which have been in the barn for some time. John H. Dixon is said to have secured permission to equip a car with one of the fenders he has invented.

While Mayor Hays and Director Moore continue to allow the law to be violated, the fenderless street cars continue to claim their daily quota of victims.

Bernhard Strattler, aged 60, of California avenue, Allegheny, was run down by a fenderless street car in Western avenue, Allegheny, yesterday morning and his skull was fractured.

ARRANGING FOR PARADE.

Labors' Demonstration Will Comprise Four Divisions—Canton Watchmakers Are to Lead.

At a special meeting of the Labor day committee last night at 412 Diamond street, further arrangements were made for the parade on September 4. The Second Brigade band has been engaged to lead the parade. It was also decided to have the parade divided in four divisions. The watch engravers of Canton, O., will lead the organizations of the first division.

The second division will be confined to the building and trades unions. The third division will comprise miscellaneous unions and the fourth division will be made up of railroad organizations. It is expected there will be 15,000 men in line. The journeymen horseshoers of this city will have 200 men in line. A meeting for the election of the division officers will be held at 412 Diamond street, August 20.

M'KEESPORTERS AT LUNA.

Thousands Will Throng Park, Guests of Tube City Business Men.

Thousands of McKeesporters will throng Luna park today. J. D. O'Neil, James Borland, R. E. Stone and the brothers Haber, all well-known business men of the Tube City, will be the hosts of the occasion. They arranged for the outing some time ago and invited all their fellow citizens of McKeesport to be their guests, purchasing thousands of tickets for distribution.

Special street cars have been chartered and they will leave McKeesport for Pittsburgh in one big procession. The guests will be entertained by the Luna park management from the moment of their arrival at the park until their departure at night. There will be a barbecue at the park at noon. It is said that some of the McKeesport mills will be deserted and that many of the stores will be closed.

Is Arrested in New Castle.

County Detective James W. Reed arrested Laird Dickson, a negro, in New Castle yesterday morning. He is charged with violation of the Edlis law, the allegation being that he is supported by a dissolute woman in the Hill district. Dickson was brought back to the city. Adolph Edlis stated yesterday that he was in receipt of many letters offering help in the crusade which he has started.

NEW CANDIDATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Irvin K. Campbell Qualifies for Republican County Commissioner Nomination.

BOOMING CLARK FOR MAYOR

Irvin K. Campbell of the Nineteenth ward, who has been indorsed by the soldiers' organizations of Allegheny county, yesterday qualified to enter the Republican primaries for the nomination of county commissioner. Mr. Campbell is a superintendent of the Colonial Steel Company and well known. He bears a good war record.

At a meeting on Monday night in Allegheny of the joint committee representing the Soldiers' Civic league of Allegheny county, the Allegheny War Veterans' association, Sons of Veterans and the Spanish War Veterans' association, three indorsements were given to Republican candidates—Mr. Campbell for county commissioner, A. S. Miller of Bellevue for register of wills and Andrew D. Armstrong of Allegheny for county controller.

Mr. Miller is an attorney and Mr. Armstrong was formerly chief assessor of Allegheny and a member of select council. Mr. Campbell has held no public office, except that of school director in the Sixth ward quite a number of years ago. Mr. Miller has been a candidate for register of wills for some time, and has qualified to enter the primaries. Mr. Armstrong has not yet qualified or announced his candidacy.

Veterans Indorse Three Men.

The soldiers' organizations do not expect that all of the three men indorsed will be nominated on the county ticket, but they will be content if one of the three succeeds in winning a nomination. If they get one nomination they are expected to indorse the whole Republican ticket.

City Chairman M. G. Leslie left last night for Atlantic City to be gone two weeks. An important conference of state and local political leaders is expected at the seashore. County Chairman Ford is expected to return the latter part of the week.

Attorney John Marron, who has been prosecuting the Allegheny grafters, denies that he has any intention of entering the field for the mayoralty of Allegheny.

"It is a job that I could not hold because I am not eligible for the place. I am not a resident of the city," said Mr. Marron. "But if I was eligible I would rather continue to be superintendent of my farm at Sewickley than be mayor of Allegheny."

Boom for Clark.

The Citizens party organization in the Twentieth ward is practically solid for Director James W. Clark for the nomination for mayor. Clark for mayor is the talk at Alderman Walker's headquarters where the Twentieth ward common councilmen and the party workers of the ward assemble almost every night. Besides the talk there is a well-defined movement to organize the workers in the Twentieth ward and other wards of the city for Clark.

It is the intention of the Twentieth ward organization, at the proper time, to put Director Clark up against former Congressman James W. Brown, who is the candidate picked by Director Bigelow.

"We are all for Clark for mayor," said Alderman Walker. "He is the strongest man personally in the Citizens party, and has all the workers with him, the men who get the votes. He is strong not only in his own ward, but throughout the city."

MEMBERS GET NOISY UNDER INFLUENCE OF THE SPIRIT

"When the spirit of the Lord gets into my members it is not possible for me to control them," said the Rev. Charles Haskins, a negro, at the Lawrenceville police station yesterday morning. The minister and the board of elders of the Trinity Colored Baptist Church, Thirty-fourth and Ligonier streets, had been haled before Magistrate Kane by Inspector McAvoy and Capt. Peter Walsh. Neighbors had complained that the services at the church were so boisterous that they could not sleep. They started at 9 and closed somewhere around midnight. The Rev. Mr. Haskins and his supporters promised to start services a little earlier, but he could not guarantee that there would be a milder evidence of religious fervor.

CHILD IS BADLY BITTEN BY A VICIOUS DOG

Benjamin Lebowitz, a 4-year-old son of L. Lebowitz of Fifth avenue, McKeesport, was attacked by a dog yesterday and severely bitten. One of the child's hands was torn in three places by the brute's fangs. It is not believed the dog was mad, but it has grown suddenly savage, and the police have been asked to kill it.

Awards Paving Contract.

Millvale council last night broke the deadlock on the question of awarding the contract for paving Elizabeth street by giving the contract to John Battenfield of Millvale. The Sawders' Paving and Construction Company, the only other bidder, withdrew, owing to the Pittsburgh-Buffalo Brick Company refusing to supply brick for the contract. A sensation was caused by the reading of a letter from the brick company bitterly condemning the committee for its action in regard to the brick.

Is Run Over by Automobile.

A. Norris of 133 South Twenty-second street, was run over by an automobile driven and owned by Edward A. La Fontaine of 168 Baum street, at Smithfield street and Fifth avenue yesterday at noon. The man was knocked down and bruised. The cornerman gave Mr. La Fontaine a signal to cross Fifth avenue and Norris, who was crossing the street, did not see the machine. Norris was able to go home in a street car.

Body Buried in Panama.

Joseph Ploth of 416 Pearl street, Bloomfield, whose brother, Jacob, died on the isthmus of Panama recently from yellow fever, has received word from Washington that the body has been buried there. The widow has received from the government officials blank proof of heirship, which must be filled out before she can secure her husband's estate.

Keener Goes to Jail.

John F. Keener, aged 59, who was arrested Monday night, on a charge preferred by Frank Wunderlin, on behalf of his 11-year-old daughter, was sent to jail yesterday without the option of bail. Keener is married and lives in High street, Allegheny. The child lives with her parents in Humboldt street.

Picnic at Oakwood.

On Saturday the congregation of the Church of the Holy Innocents, Sheraden, will hold its annual picnic at Oakwood park. The committees in charge have arranged an interesting program of sports. There will be a "baby show" and other novel voting contests. The Rev. D. J. O'Shea is rector of the church.

WHISTLES AND BURGLES.

Homestead's Latest Midnight Prowler Is One Whose Musical Faculties Are Strongly Developed.

A whistling burglar paid a visit to the home of Albert Nord in Oak Hill, opposite East Pittsburgh, early yesterday morning, his whistling as he was leaving the house awakened Nord, who fired two shots at him. The entire house was ransacked.

Nord was awakened shortly after 2 o'clock by some person whistling in a low tone and on getting out of bed he heard a noise down stairs. Securing his revolver he went to the head of the steps and saw a man walking through the hall. The first shot, Nord thinks, took effect, as the fellow jumped and with a yell of pain fled through the door.

Your Nerves

It is your nerves that cause the heart to pulsate, the lungs to inhale the oxygen, the brain to direct the motion of every organ of the body, the stomach to digest food, the liver to secrete the bile, the kidneys to filter the blood, and the bowels to carry off the waste.

When the nerves of the stomach become weakened it results in stomach trouble, indigestion, constipation.

This is true of all the organs of the body, and proves that to cure disease you must strengthen the nerves.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

will do it. It seldom fails to cure all nervous affections, Sleeplessness, Neuralgia, Headache, Backache, Epilepsy, Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles.

First Showing of Phipps & Atchinson Fall and Midsummer Felt Hats,

$3.00 to $10.00.

It is with pleasure we announce the first arrival of Midsummer and early Autumn styles in Phipps & Atchinson and D. Burgessor's ready-to-wear hats for women. In addition to the foregoing lines which are familiar to all Pittsburg women, are other felt hats from leading importers, not so well known, but equally meritorious.

Some of these are the acme of simplicity in style, while others again are elaborately trimmed. Small to medium in size—in color gray, champagne and two-toned effects. An unusually large assortment for this time of the year.

Correct for Summer tourists no less than for stay-at-homes.

Another new arrival in the millinery department is that of Autumn styles in Maline and Chiffon Hats. These are specially admired by those who do not care to buy felt hats so early, but who would like a new hat to finish the season. These are shown in black and in navy blue. Attention is also called to the new models in taffeta hats. $5.00 to $15.00.

New Fall Walking Skirts for Women.

Women who are leaving the seashore in order to spend the last few weeks of their summer outing in the mountains, will want new skirts. Those who are devotees to Fashion will want them in Fall styles. They are ready here in abundance, provided for just such needs.

Women who are preparing to lay aside their wash skirts will also be interested in this first showing of new cloth skirts. Mannish effects in gray seem to be the favored fabric for early fall. Pleated skirts are as much in evidence as ever, but there are so many new ideas in the designing that it would be futile for us to attempt detailed description.

The new cloth skirts are modest in price, $10.00, $12.00, $13.50, $15.00 and up to $18.00.

First Autumn Styles in Women's Tailor Suits.

Earlier than we usually show them by several weeks. But we daresay none too early to please the women of Pittsburg.

Long coat suits again, if you please, graceful in outline and handsome in fabric and finish.

The skirts are pleated and made with many gores, the very latest novelty being the flare gore skirt. Little trimming is seen on these new suits, as fashion seems to point to severe tailor modes. Prices start at $25.00 and run up to $75.00.

Pretty White Dress Cottons for a Little Bit of Money.

If you have use for any of these materials at the present time, then yours is the good fortune to be able to buy it at such prices. If you don't need it now, how about next season? The stuffs are staple.

New Cloth Suits and Coats for Misses.

Young ladies who like to be first in matters of fashion are invited to see the new suits and new coats which we have ready for them. They depict the best ideas of early Autumn and are in medium weight materials—some light enough for present wear.

Another "Word Hunt" Next Sunday.

$50.00 IN PRIZES

For Four Words Selected From

NEXT SUNDAY'S GAZETTE

Rules and Conditions of the "Word Hunt."

The hunt consists of selecting four words from the advertisements appearing in next Sunday's issue of The Pittsburgh Gazette. In selecting such words you are privileged to use each letter of the alphabet four times, but no more.

Each letter of the alphabet has a value in points, according to its location in the alphabet. For example, A is one point; B, two points, C, three points, etc. This would make the letter Z count twenty-six points.

The persons selecting the four words aggregating the greatest number of points (on the basis described above) will receive the prizes. We give below examples to demonstrate the difference in value of words. Take the word "Furniture."

6—21—13—14—9—20—21—18—5
F—U—R—N—I—T—U—R—E

It contains nine letters and represents 128 points, whereas, you take the word "Handkerchief."

8—1—14—4—11—5—18—8—1—9—5—6
H—A—N—D—K—E—R—C—H—I—E—F

It contains twelve letters, which only represent 92 points.

Answers must give the words selected, explain from what ad. they were taken and where the ad. is located in the paper. This is necessary to properly check the answers.

Two Prizes $5.00 each	10.00

Thursday, August 10, 1905.

Magistrate Moke has returned to the peculiar brand of justice that has made his court notorious. His reform was temporary, only. There is little for the Pittsburgh public to do, however, but bear with the dispensation during the remainder of the administration that has made it possible. If it suffers from the same travesty on justice after that term it will have no one but itself to blame.

Pittsburgh's eminence as a freight producer is freshly conceded in the statement that the local agency of the Santa Fe has booked more tonnage than any other eastern agency of that system. It is likely the same testimony might be given by the Santa Fe's intimate competitors, the 'Frisco system and Missouri Pacific. Incidentally the Iowa Central has found it convenient to establish a freight agent here.

An attractive program has been prepared for the meeting of the interparliamentary union at The Hague, August 28-30. The members of this organization are persistent workers for international comity and the interests of humanity. It may not be assumed that universal peace can be procured and maintained by international congresses, yet there is reason to believe these meetings, discussions and agreements are an important part of the educational campaign leading to better understandings.

Fourth in the series of trade excursions of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association is the tour up the Monongahela river today. The trip by steamboat should prove a pleasant outing for the members and serve at the same time to bring trade to the city. The Monongahela valley is as naturally tributary to Pittsburgh in a trade sense as the Monongahela river is to the Ohio geographically. There ought to be no difficulty in convincing its merchants of that fact, if any there be who are not already aware of it.

Robert Pitcairn, resident assistant to the president of the Pennsylvania railroad, repeats his denial that his road will run passenger trains in Duquesne way, or will inaugurate a suburban trolley service, or will build a passenger depot on the old cathedral site. As we said the other day, Mr. Pitcairn is good authority, for he knows. It ought not to be necessary for him to make this denial every day or two. The Pennsylvania railroad needs its tracks in Duquesne way for freight terminals and will keep them busy in that line of traffic. The cathedral site is otherwise provided for.

M. Witte has given out an official statement of the program adopted by the peace envoys. It provides for two meetings daily, for limitation of the participants in the conference, for use of English and French languages, the text of the latter to be used in evidence in case of dispute. These arrangements may be regarded as good progress for the first session—better probably than succeeding sessions will yield. The proceedings may hereafter be given to the press only by vote of both the Japanese and Russian envoys, so it may be a long time between bulletins.

There is one feature of the plan for a national assembly in Russia, as finally agreed on, that is good. The assembly may, by a two-thirds vote, negative any proposition made by the ministry. As the assembly is to have about 500 members, chosen by indirect methods, more or less under control of the ministry, it will not often happen that a two-thirds majority can be obtained against ministerial measures. Nevertheless this provision is some protection to the people. It will hardly satisfy the socialistic agitators, and unless the ministers exhibit greater wisdom and moderation than has been their custom the assembly will not end the empire's internal troubles. The defeat at the hands of Japan has destroyed the prestige of the autocracy at home to quite as great an extent as in the courts of Europe.

The increase in yellow fever cases that has looked so alarming is really due to the discovery of nests outside the territory previously reported. It is not due to extensive new infection and is not as alarming as the figures might indicate. Discovery of the foci is the surest road to mastery of the epidemic. Since the federal government has taken charge of the situation special effort is being made to locate fugitive cases so the spread of infection may be stopped. The death of Mgr. Chappelle is a sad incident of the plague, for the reverend gentleman was exposed in the discharge of his ecclesiastic duty. He will be widely mourned as a hero and a martyr.

Virginia Republicans.

By the nomination of Judge J. L. Lewis of Richmond for governor the Republicans of Virginia have put their best foot forward. The state convention yesterday, besides the nomination of candidates, enunciated a platform that is sound in every line, honest money, protection, national defense and all. With Judge Lewis as its candidate and on that platform Virginia Republicans are going to make a vigorous fight for the state. They are not without hope of success.

It will not do any more to dismiss a Republican campaign in Virginia as mere rainbow chasing. Virginia is developing as an industrial state and is anxious for further development. Its hope lies in the continuance of Republican party policies. The cry of negro domination has lost most of its power to frighten the first families. During late years Virginia has lost thousands of its negro population to the rapidly developing industrial regions of neighboring states, especially West Virginia, and no serious disaster has fallen upon that offspring of the Old Dominion. The people of Virginia are not blind to the facts.

Missouri was once as firmly Democratic as Virginia. It has gone over into the Republican column. Missouri is glad of the change. There are strong ties of sympathy between Missouri and Virginia, and the Missouri example is not without its effect. There is good and ample reason why Virginia Republicans should buckle on their armor and go into the battle earnestly. One good, vigorous campaign will show how near the goal is.

Mr. Wu Explains.

Wu Ting Fang, former Chinese minister to the United States, denies he has inspired the Chinese boycott of American goods. He deplores the movement, but, at the same time, does not regard it as an unmitigated evil. It serves as a lever to open the eyes of Americans, in Mr. Wu's estimation, to the injustice done to Chinese of the superior classes and is a gratifying evidence of awakening Chinese nationality. Mr. Wu takes advantage of the occasion to present the Chinese hope for a new treaty with that forceful, persuasive reasoning so familiar to American readers during the former minister's residence in Washington.

Mr. Wu is generally recognized in this country as one of the cleverest men ever sent here to represent a foreign government. He has imbibed much of the American spirit of fair play and directness, which he quaintly combines with a remnant of oriental guile. His remarks on exclusion are well worth careful attention. His arraignment of American immigration officials and methods is so truthful it disarms defense; his ready assent to the exclusion of coolies puts the burden of explanation on the United States. In short, Mr. Wu has the better end of the argument.

If the United States desires to retain the friendship of China it will be necessary to modify the exclusion laws slightly and modify the methods of enforcement very considerably. Coolies may be kept out absolutely. China does not object to that. But Chinese merchants, students, travelers and others not of the Coolie class must be shown the courtesy accorded Europeans of the same classes. China will not longer tolerate an assumption that it is without the pale of civilized usages, lacking power to demand, as America does, full protection of the rights of its citizens in foreign lands.

The "Hard Times" Party.

With all his ills in flesh and fortune Jeremiah Simpson, who once represented a Kansas district in congress for the Populists, is able to sit up and crack a joke. He was, last week, at death's door, and many journals kindly disposed to him wrote as if he were with the dead. Mr. Simpson is recovering in his New Mexico home, and has enjoyed the funeral orations that have been pronounced over him, but objects to the references to the death of the Populist party. He claims that it is in nowise moribund, but sleeping.

Rising up from his chair of convalescence in answer to one declaration that designated the Populist organization as the "hard times party," he fatuously declared that was just what it was, adding: "People do not need relief from good times. No man ever asks for an indorsement on his note until he hasn't got the money to run his business, that is what the Populist party is. It is an indorsement on the note of all the people of the United States."

Of course a great deal of allowance must be made for "Sockless Jerry," as he has, through recent afflictions, forgotten the country has time after time rejected the security he and his party offered. There never was a better joining of affinities than when the Populists and Democrats pooled their issues on the "hard times" platform. It was a losing cause. While the party in power generally is put on the defensive in every campaign the tables were turned in the last contest. The Populist party is no more; the people would rather hear of encouragement than cranky criticism; they prefer the optimism of hope to the pessimism of despair. That is why the Populist party is dead, and that is the reason a hopeful Republican now represents the Kansas district that Simpson once stood for in congress. It is to be hoped "Uncle Jerry" will completely recover his health in New Mexico, and live in that or any other state of his future migrations long enough to have written as his epitaph—as honest as he is—"I was wrong; I acknowledge it. I put myself in the hands of my friends."

To Taboo Mother Goose.

The Chicago university continues to furnish the country with the surprising. Much has been written of the iconoclastic tendencies of the instructers in that school, but it is marvelous that a woman, a married woman at that, should have the nerve to suggest the substitution of Homer for the jingling rhymes of Mother Goose. The lady in question is an instructor in the elementary school of the university, and in a lecture before an audience of school teachers solemnly declared the infant mind would be immeasurably benefited by familiarity with the conceptions of Homer instead of groveling with the understandable couplet of Mother Goose:

Little Jack Horner sat in his corner
Eating his Christmas pie.

That is not familiar to us, but it has its appealing side, calculated to strengthen the memory. In place of this rhyme the Chicago "professoress" would have the present children and those yet to come sing in the commanding lines of the Iliad:

Bold Paris first the work of death begun
On Great Menestheus, Areithous' son.
Then sunk Eloneus to the shades below,
Beneath his steely casque he felt the blow.

After this what shall we have for "Humpty Dumpty" and "Hey-diddle-diddle," reciting the remarkable feat of the "Cow jumping over the moon?" Progression is all right. America is an advancing community of states, but there are some traditions that must be maintained, those of the nursery and childhood. Leave it to the grown man or woman to finally catch up with the moving throng, but don't crowd or cram before the mind is strong enough to get hold of things with a firm and intelligent grasp. To abate Mother Goose now would be like abolishing the cradle. Abolish the cradle and, in a sense, babies are abolished. We appeal to the president against race suicide.

Good Roads Apostle.

Gen. Roy Stone, who has just gone to his long rest, was a man full of useful activities. His military record will give him enduring fame, his bravery and resourcefulness being displayed on many occasions. He was one of the commanders at Gettysburg who conspicuously aided in saving the day. Gen. Stone, however, is as deserving of remembrance for his achievements in time of peace. He was a most capable engineer and often used his talents for the public benefit.

Gen. Stone's hobby was transportation. He invented the mono-rail road which came to be known as the "pegleg." It was first exhibited at the Centennial exposition in Philadelphia, where it carried thousands over the ravine between the Agricultural and Horticultural "halls." Later a road of this type was constructed in the McKean county oil field, but an unfortunate accident put it out of commission. The idea was good and has been profitably worked out in Europe.

Gen. Stone gave much attention to improvement of the public highways. He was largely instrumental in having the "division of roads" established under the auspices of the department of agriculture at Washington. He was the first chief of the division and made many valuable contributions to the literature of the good roads movement. His knowledge of the subject was vast and his advice was always sound. He was practically the "father" of the good roads movement that has gained so much headway throughout the country, and will long be gratefully remembered in that connection.

Though it looks like a hopeless task, the Democratic Post continues its effort to prove Judge John Stewart is not a Republican. The Post does not appear quite natural since it has set itself up as authoritative mentor to all good Republicans. It only succeeds in clouding its Democracy.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

If you wish to acquire a respectable or an aristocratic dyspepsia, the first thing in order is to get a bunch of money, the bigger the better.

The next essential is to import a chef, preferably one who has cooked for crowned heads, or for royal bloods. He will do the rest.

Of course, wines and liquors and cigars and cigarets, late dinners and late suppers will come without any special effort on your part.

The dyspepsia doctor will be hovering near so that in case the malady begins with numerous sudden attacks of acute indigestion he will be ready to administer the usual remedy.

When you get the real thing you will call on the doctor regularly, and just as regularly go out in society to show off your new acquisition.

The presence of a dyspeptic is certain to bring to mind Mr. Rockefeller and to cause the repetition of the fable that he once told a doctor that he would give him a million for a breakfast such as he used to enjoy when a boy at home.

Sol Smith Russell once said after having become quite wealthy, that he would give five dollars for an apple dumpling like his mother used to make, or rather he'd give one dollar for the dumpling and four dollars for the appetite that went with it.

* * *

Riches will bring you lots of things, but nothing more real or more noticeable, or that will stick to you closer than dyspepsia.

Not only will it revel in you but in the members of your household, even your dogs will have it, and so will your horses unless you can afford a Kentucky-bred hostler.

But if you must be aristocratic, and must ape the manners of royalty, you must have the dyspepsia. To raise "a holler" about it will not be good form, while to return to the simple, common sense rules by which people live in health and comfort marks you as a social renegade.

Nature is not only very kind but quite profligate with dyspeptic favors, and seems to have enough to go around even though every mother's son of us should ask for one.

Many children—more than you suspect—have dyspepsia. These do not nourish and thrive well, their teeth become discolored and soon begin to decay, they complain of headaches, take cold easily, get stuffy about the nose and talk as though their tongues were too thick, which they really are. They become indolent, dull and easily exhausted.

Quinine, strychnine nor patent medicine will correct these conditions, nor will a visit of a week or two in the country serve to correct the physical and nervous defects. These abnormal conditions have been growing too long to be removed in so short a time by such irrational means.

How shall I a habit break?
As you did a habit make.

Dear Quiet Observer—Why don't you take up the vexed problems a thoughtful man meets on the trolley cars?

One, of course, is the almost utter lack of courtesy displayed by travelers via electric line. To such an extent has impoliteness spread that "street car manners" is a synonym for rudeness.

Striving to be a gentleman, "be it ever so painful," I have wondered what kind of home training these passengers had. We boys were taught to be respectful to older folks, to prefer others to ourselves, to let no woman stand while we were seated—her age, color or previous condition of servitude being immaterial.

With but one place to give, I resign it cheerfully, regretting only that I cannot supply seats for all women in the car, young and old. But old men, too, are compelled to stand.

Where is the respect and honor for age that mother and father taught these men and women? Forgotten, do you think? Then, also, is the fact forgotten that certainly and surely each of them will be aged some day.

Woman, too, has her own discourtesy to account for. When a man is gentlemanly enough to give her his seat, she should reward him with an audible "Thank you." The true man looks not for thanks, but neither does the true woman accept the favor thanklessly. Too often a careless nod, given to the back of the man's head, is all he gets to show any recognition whatever of his kindness.

The root of this whole matter is selfishness, the quality symbolized by the hog! If you, in your practical fashion, can indicate a method to get out of humanity this strain of swinishness, man, women and children will rise up and call you blessed.

Acts of self-denial are rewarded by an approving conscience, to say nothing of the undoubted (if sometimes unconscious) applause that kindness and unselfishness call forth from all humanity. Therefore, those who practice what you preach will thank you for guiding them to "the better way."

SINE CERA.

As children are reared so will their manner be when they are men and women grown.

Therefore, the place to begin is in the home and keep it up in school from start to finish. It is as much the duty of schools to teach manners as it is to teach grammar, and really more important, since good manners are of more benefit to the average man than good language. But teaching manners will in no way interfere with teaching grammar.

There isn't much use in trying to reform grown people. The hope of the reformer is in the children, and to these he should direct his attention.

Mr. Quiet Observer—Just a word for the teacher who regards swearing as a greater sin than murder, stealing, etc. We have nothing to say in support of her opinion, but may not her critics be a little hard on her? We are likely to become excited about little things, allowing more important matters to pass unnoticed. (No reference to the teacher is made here.)

Either entire lack of knowledge concerning a certain sin, or too frequent indulgence in it, has the effect of rendering the individual unconscious of its dangers. In one case the sensibilities are not yet awakened and in the other they are blunted.

It is quite likely that this teacher was reared in a home where oaths were unheard. She is, one may suppose, a young teacher, one with high ideals, and likely one that suffers for her children, overestimating her responsibility for their conduct. How her heart aches with sorrow and disappointment when she hears her children swear, and feels herself powerless to remedy the evil.

This wrong-doing staring her in the face is more abhorrent to her than murder and theft as she views these sins at a distance. Her statement was not a judicious one, and she has possibly ere this seen it in a different light. For myself, I should rather entrust my child to her care, regardless of the religion she might instil in his mind, than to the care of one who regarded patriotism as the only essential thing.

If she does place God before the nation what difference can this possibly make? Is not God above this and all nations? Is it not because this nation has at its head and in authority over its affairs those who acknowledge His supremacy that it is the first nation in the world today?

The trouble in our schools is not that there is too much religion in them, but that there is too little in the homes.

The teacher stands at all times as a mark for criticism. Everything wrong in the school is attributed to her failure. A little more of the charity that "suffereth long and is kind," is badly needed by the patrons of our schools. Let it be taught our children either by religion or some better(?) method, for the good of future generations. They will need it as we do now.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mr. G. B. Wormser, the Pittsburgh broker, has been taking a look around New York, and has come to the conclusion that Gotham is not as clean as our own city of smoke. He looks upon New Yorkers who cannot see the defects of their city, as blind or over-zealous in their loyalty. Mr. Wormser is quoted in today's Globe as follows: "You are very fond of saying that Pittsburgh is a dirty, smoky, city, but Pittsburgh, let me tell you, is as clean as a newly-laundered shirt compared to New York. I cannot recall ever hearing a New Yorker honestly admit that his city is dirty. Local patriotism is an excellent spirit, but civic loyalty is being carried too far when it blinds its citizens to the obvious defects of their own town."

One can readily understand his view of the situation at a time like this, after a two days' rain. The streets are slimy with mud and even Broadway and Fifth avenue, the chief pride of the city, are not exempt. The side streets are even worse, and the whole effect is one of uncleanliness that comes from carelessness. With solid asphalt pavements, it would seem an easy matter to flush them once in a while to keep them clean, but New Yorkers are either blind to such a necessity or simply don't care.

Good News for the Commuters.

The announcement of the Lackawanna Railroad Company that trains are already being run practically on schedule time, and that a big shed will soon be ready to take the place of the ferry slip, is good news to the commuters, who have been compelled to go far out of their way to get between their Jersey homes and their offices in the city. So rapidly has the work been done that few evidences of the big Hoboken fire were left today. A temporary train platform has been built and a boardwalk laid to the ferry slip. When the shed is completed, the passengers will be about as well off as ever.

Mrs. Tom Thumb Takes Up Music.

Those grown-up children who remember how happy they once were when taken to see Mrs. Tom Thumb, will be surprised to hear that the little lady has, at the age of 65, discovered her musical education has been slightly neglected. For 45 years she has owned a grand piano hardly larger than herself, but not until now has she received instruction on the instrument. Today was, therefore, a great one in her life, for she began taking lessons on the piano. Mrs. Thumb admits playing a little "by ear," but she never knew what notes were meant for until she began today to try to read them. Her attempt to take on a new accomplishment is very amusing to her little husband, Count Magri.

Within the Lights of Broadway.

The wise old chief of police who declared that the electric light was doing more to eliminate robbery than any other agency, evidently reckoned without his robbers. Electric light has no terrors for the thieves who entered a jewelry store at 1368 Broadway this morning. They climbed through a transom in full view of the street, and got away with gems worth $1,000.

It Pays to Be "Musician to the People."

A hand organ man was in the Jefferson Market police court today charged with plying his trade in Manhattan without a license. The magistrate assessed a fine of $1 against him, and the organ grinder's wife reached into her pocked and produced the money from a big roll of bills. The prisoner was discharged on his promise not to play in Manhattan again. "We go to Italy," he told the magistrate. "We be rich people there," and to back up his statement the wife produced a bank book from somewhere in the folds of her dress which showed that they had a balance of $7,000.

Beat "Man from Sawmill Run."

New York's rival of Pittsburgh's "man from Sawmill run," was in court today charged with exercising his "wail, wail," in the streets. It was yesterday's victory of the Giants that caused him to let his voice loose, and this explanation seemed to be enough for the magistrate, who discharged him with the advice either to confine his rooting to the Polo grounds hereafter, or, if he must exercise his voice, to let it out to the government to be used as a fog horn.

After Jerome for Mayor.

The citizens do not seem to be inclined to allow District Attorney Jerome to have his way and run for another term in his present position. They insist he can be more valuable to the city as successor to Mayor McClellan, and they are particularly anxious McClellan shall not succeed himself. They have therefore sounded Mr. Jerome on the question of taking up the fight, and he is undecided. He really believes he can be very useful for another term in his present office, but the citizens may succeed in convincing him he will be more valuable as the chief executive of the city. Mr. Jerome is inclined to take the place in which he is convinced that he can do the most good, and we may yet see him in the mayor's office.

CRIPPLE FACTORIES

"Well, widow," says the milkman, pouring the milk into the pitcher, "I s'pose you read about the gunboat Bennington blowing up and sending a lot of her fellers into kingdom come, didn't you?"

"Indeed and I did," says the widow, "terrible accident, wasn't it?"

"It was terrible enough and no mistake, but, as to its being what you can rightfully call an accident, I—well, I'm not sure of that."

"Well, what on earth would you call it if it wasn't an accident?" queries the widow.

"That's just what I am going to tell you about," says the milkman. "I have made up my mind that a new name should be invented for those blowups, smashups, explosions and the whatnots. You can scarcely pick up a paper but you read of some terrible accident resulting in frightful loss of life in some part of the country.

"First, it's a coal mine that blows up with gas and hurls a hundred or two of men (it doesn't matter much about numbers any more) into eternity. No sooner have the people recovered from this shock than some fast passenger train smashes into something and lands nearly a hundred of its passengers into the eternal city.

"The people have hardly got to breathing regularly again, when they are convulsed by a terrible disaster in some of our many big theaters.

"Then follow steamboat disasters, fires, floods and, well, I might continue, as the lawyers say, 'ad infinitum,' but I have said enough of this; for you know that these terrible—so-called—accidents, are almost a daily occurrence.

"Funny, too, widow, when you stop to think it over for a minute or so, we have humane and anti-cruelty societies which see to it that we never abuse our dumb animals, but they never concern themselves about human beings, no matter how much they are abused.

"For instance, if the dealers in live stock crowd too many cattle, mules or horses into a car, or if they do not feed and care for them properly, societies for the prevention of these things swoop down upon the offender or offenders, as the case might be, and make them walk the chalk line. But the street railway magnates can crowd their limited number of cars to the point of suffocation, let people hang on to the roof, steps and every place they can stick, and the society for the prevention of cruelty to dumb animals is in no wise concerned; in fact the officers of the society ride in these self-same cars.

"There are several remarkable things connected with these so-called accidents which, I think, should be called to the attention of our people. They are as follows: Just as soon as some great catastrophe has startled the land the people are told that it is impossible to account for the accident, as everything about the institution (of whatever kind it happens to be) was in the safest possible condition just before it occurred.

"Then an official investigating committee is appointed to go around to the scene, look solemnly over the ruins, view the remains of the victims, ask a lot of questions, listen to the experts employed by the owners of the institution, until it begins to doubt whether an accident has occurred or not, and then makes out a report in which it says that it has gone over the ground very carefully and has been unable to find the cause of the unfortunate affair.

"Next comes the coroner, who announces beforehand that he is going to find the cause of the accident and fix the responsibility, let it fall where it will.

"Then he selects and swears in a coroner's jury (it should be called cornered jury), and spends a long time hearing expert testimony on what a splendid condition the institution was in just immediately before the accident. Finally, he declares the testimony all in and instructs the jury to retire and bring in a verdict which will say there has been a terrible accident, in which so many people came to their deaths, but the cause or causes of said accident are unknown to your jury, as are also the party or parties responsible for the said causes.

"Then the coroner discharges this jury, pays them for their services (which consisted in bringing in a verdict in accordance with the coroner's instructions) and moves on to the next case.

"There is no use in talking, widow, it is a mighty sad thing to have your relations and friends killed off like flies in these accidents, but then there is some consolation in knowing that the official investigating committee and the coroner and his jury have both declared, under oath, that they are officially dead—from an accident—the cause of which is unknown, and, therefore, it is impossible to fix the responsibility.

"Then the preachers preach a sermon on these accidents, in which they say amongst other things, 'that it will serve as a preventative from similar accidents occurring in the future.'

"But is it so, widow? Do these accidents prevent like accidents? Look at the coal mines, look at the railroads, look at everything! Are the accidents becoming less or more numerous? While the big accidents that carry off a hundred or so are appalling, the little or unnoticed accidents that are picking people off in ones and twos are more so.

"Yes, indeed, widow, we have some great industries, great factories of different kinds, factories that cannot be equaled in the entire world. But there is one kind of a factory that we also excel the world in, but our government never says a word about it in its census reports—and that is our 'cripple factories.'"

"Fact, widow; every day this factory grinds and grinds and grinds, chopping off fingers, hands, arms, legs, toes, feet, heads; gouging out their eyes, roasting the flesh from their bones, smashing them to pieces on the railroads, grinding them to pulp in the rolls, blowing them to atoms in the coal mines, burning them up in the theaters, hotels and tenement houses—'cripple factories!'

"Well, I should say—clear up."

And with that the milkman drives on and the widow returns to her pleasant occupation.

Will Impress Thinking Persons.

Gov. Pennypacker's sensible remarks on the subject of the divorce evil will impress thinking persons as not in the least overstating the need of radical reform in that direction. It is highly creditable to the governor and to the state that Pennsylvania should be taking the lead in a movement involving such possibilities.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

Just Pretend, and You're Safe.

An old rule for a non-swimmer upon being unexpectedly precipitated into deep water is "pretend you are crawling up a stairway on your hands and knees." There is enough summer bathing yet to come to make this rule worth remembering—until you learn to swim, at least.—Columbus Dispatch.

LITTLE HEAD.

When the early beam of morning,
Speeding over fields and streams,
With its golden touch awakes me
From the misty land of dreams—
Half a-doze and half beholding,
I can see a baby's head,
Just above the snowy covers
Of a little cradle bed.

Little head above the covers,
Brightened by the morning glow,
Time and tide may swing between us
As the summers ebb and flow.
Waking dreams and phase may enter
To disturb that little head,
Just above the snowy covers
Of our baby's cradle bed.

Little head above the covers,
Though the seasons come and pass,
And your childhood fade and vanish
Like a sunbeam from the grass,
All the years shall I remember
That reposeful baby head,
Just above the snowy covers
Of that little cradle bed.

PICKED UP IN LOBBIES

Record Breaking Sale of Tickets.

"Dan" Boyle was glad to get out for his arms and hands last night. He is the ticket seller at the Union station, and ticketed more than 20 people for Atlantic City between the hours of 7 and 11 o'clock. Boyle spent perhaps as busy a period of his life as he will know for some time. When the rush was over he said he was just wanting some one to count up the ticket stubs and the $5 bills. He was too weary for that, so he delegated one of his assistants to the task of seeing that the stubs and bills tallied.

This sale was but a small portion of the enormous sale of tickets for Atlantic City that will be necessitated by the Pennsylvania railroad's seashore excursion today. The method is that this will be the largest excursion run by any line to the favored resort this season. There will be six trains this morning and six this evening, while there will also be a large number of passengers to Atlantic City carried on the train leaving at 4.30 o'clock this afternoon. There were many requests for parlor car accommodations last night, but all such requests were met with the response that it would be impossible to grant them, owing to all of the 17 available parlor cars having been sold out midway yesterday morning. Two of the morning trains will consist of Dixie cars, while two of the evening trains will consist exclusively of Pullman sleeping cars from Pittsburgh to Atlantic City. The warm weather had a good effect on the excursion business.

When Pittsburgh Was Smoky City.

"You youngsters who are talking about Pittsburgh being a smoky city, or the 'Smoky City,' don't know what you have missed," remarked a veteran "drummer" last evening while sitting with a party of friends at the Hotel Henry. "I expect Pittsburgh now as a clean city. When I used to come in here about 25 years ago the smoke and fog in the mornings was actually so thick that as one walked along the street he felt his impression as the muskmen—sort of left a void in himself as he trusted alone, for the people all moves along then as rapidly as they do now. That was the time when coal was burned—soft coal that curled out massive clouds of rolling smoke from the stacks along the banks of the two rivers, as well as from the downtown heating plants. I wonder as I come into the city sometimes what such conditions would mean for Pittsburgh now. How would the skyscraper people endure it? And what a tremendous amount of smoke the power and heating plants of these 'scrapers would put forth. I am told that back 30 years there was still more smoke than when I first knew the city. The use of gas in the buildings and stills has changed this whole situation. Pittsburgh is now the 'Steel City.'"

CHINA WANTS BARS LET DOWN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PEKIN, Aug. 9.—Wu Ting Fang, former Chinese minister at Washington, and now vice president of the board of foreign affairs, when interviewed today said the existing regulations for the exclusion of Chinese from the United States were unsatisfactory from the Chinese standpoint and hence it was desired that they should be modified by the new convention.

The Chinese, he said, agreed to the exclusion of coolies and this point presented no difficulty, but the existing regulations pressed with severity on other classes. He instanced the cases of merchants, travelers for pleasure, students and others, who, while nominally admissible to the United States, were forced to undergo examination which, though possibly necessary, were generally rendered very objectionable on account of the manner in which the regulations were enforced.

A superior Chinaman arriving at San Francisco, for example, said Mr. Wu, is detained by the authorities while his credentials are being examined, and this detention frequently involves consorting with a low class of coolies in a common shed.

Denied Right of Advice.

He is unable to communicate with friends and is subjected to inconveniences and indignities to which Americans would refuse to submit. Moreover, he is not allowed to retain the services of anyone to protect his interests, and if the immigration authorities decide against him there is no possibility of appeal. That these grievances are well founded is demonstrated by the necessity for President Roosevelt's stringent order that courtesy be shown the Chinese by the immigration officials under pain of dismissal. There have been numberless instances of such treatment which the Americans themselves have been forced to admit.

Mr. Wu admitted that European immigrants were not allowed representation by lawyers or others during their examinations, but he rejected this argument because, he said, the Chinese in other respects were given treatment entirely different from that accorded the Europeans.

The Chinese government, he said, agreed to the exclusion of coolies, but it urged as the main points of a new convention that the better classes of Chinese be treated on an equal footing with other aliens, with the right to retain counsel and the right of appeal, if necessary, and the admission of coolies to Hawaii, which he regarded as of the utmost importance.

Colonies Need Coolies.

Hawaii was greatly in need of laborers, Mr. Wu said, and since the Chinese were excluded the industries of the islands had suffered. At all events the Chinese there could not compete with American labor. The Philippines had long been a natural field for Chinese industry, but the application of the exclusion act to the islands had changed this. Regarding the desirability of Chinese labor in the far east, Mr. Wu instanced the prosperity of Singapore, in the straits settlements and the adjacent country.

Mr. Wu expressed himself as greatly regretting the Chinese boycott of American goods and steamship and insurance companies, as it might estrange the good will of Americans, which he highly prized. Apparently, however, he said, the Chinese classes most concerned, considering that the prospects for the solution of the difficulties arising from the application of the exclusion act were remote, decided on the boycott as the only means of ventilating the question. He pointed out that the movement against Americans, though thoroughly organized by the best and most representative Chinese, was altogether pacific and was not directed against persons or property.

All Classes in Boycott.

Mr. Wu confessed that he was surprised at the extent of the movement and the depth of feeling manifested not only by the mercantile classes, but by the students and even the women, and said that such an expression of public sentiment meant extraordinary progress in the direction of the growth of a real nationality. He could not tell what the results would be should the boycott be disregarded, but considered the movement a most serious one and trusted it would soon be rendered superfluous by the satisfactory settlement of the grievances complained of.

Mr. Wu's attention was called to the fact that he was credited with directing the boycott and he indignantly repudiated the suggestion. He said it would be as unreasonable to expect that his government had the ability to compel the Chinese to purchase goods as to believe that the United States government was able to prevent the Chicago strikes.

"I regret," said Mr. Wu, "that so little progress has been made in the negotiations for a new convention. Should the American government permit the wishes of China to be embodied in this convention it would practically have no effect on the United States. Hawaii and the Philippines do not concern American labor, while the facilities required for superior Chinese immigrants in the United States are admittedly just and reasonable. I suggest that an educational test would be the most effective means of preventing the ingress of coolies and an easy means of ascertaining the eligibility of other classes, besides eliminating undesirable class distinctions."

In conclusion Mr. Wu said it was his opinion that a clearer definition of the term "laborer" was necessary.

BETTER SUPPLY OF AIR FOR THE COURT ROOMS

The John T. Bealor Manufacturing Company was awarded the contract for equipping quarter sessions court room with a new ventilating system by the county commissioners yesterday. The company's bid was $2,989, the lowest of four. The work will be done in time for the opening of the fall term in September, and the same system will likely be introduced into the other court rooms later. Under the new system the air will be changed completely every 10 minutes, instead of 25, as under the old system.

Offering Suit Case Very Cheap.

James McCrea, aged 53, of Adams street, Allegheny, was arrested yesterday at Sixth avenue and Grant street by Special Officer Peter Angelo, as a suspicious person. He was trying to sell a leather suit case for 60 cents. The case contained a lot of sample calendars.

DIETRICH'S STORY PARTLY VERIFIED

No One, However, Knows of Any Plot Laid to Ruin Him.

PENROSE NEVER SAW HIM

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.

Contractor Dietrich's statement of a plan to ruin him was corroborated today by only a few of those whom he mentioned in his affidavit. Only one of the men who have figured as partners in the Durham-McNichol firm was in the city today. This was John M. Mack, who drew out of the concern about two years ago, but who was in it at the time Dietrich swears the firm offered him $10,000 for the use of his name. Mack admitted he was a silent partner in the firm at the time, but declares he knew nothing of a plan to ruin Dietrich.

William Krause, who finished the cement work at the pumping station built by Dietrich, said he has used material in completing the work that John W. Hill, the bureau of filtration chief, would not permit Dietrich to use. This material included the carloads of limestone grit referred to by Dietrich in his affidavit.

"Yes, it is true, as Mr. Dietrich states in his letter, that I told him I heard a bet made he would not get the bond necessary for him to accept the Lardner's Point contract," said J. W. Rutan today, a contractor and dealer in crushed stone.

"Who was the sub-contractor who made the bet?" was asked.

"That I do not care to say," Rutan replied.

Charles W. Glaser, an insurance broker, who was formerly employed in the surety department of the defunct City Trust and Surety Company, said today ex-Councilman Thomas B. Smith, agent of the National Surety Company in Philadelphia, did not say to him, at the time Dietrich was trying to get bond for the pumping station contract: "Do me a personal favor; don't go on Dietrich's bond," as Dietrich alleged in his letter.

Confirmation of Dietrich's declaration that James Pollock, one of the park commissioners and a big manufacturer in the city, had assisted the missing contractor, in that he agreed to furnish indemnity for his bond, was given by Mr. Pollock.

"Mr. Dietrich did some work for me at Norfolk, where I have mills, and when he came to me and told me of his difficulty I agreed to help him," he said.

Senator Penrose was asked today whether Dietrich had ever held a conference regarding contracts, in his office in the Arcade building. He said:

"I don't know Dietrich; never saw him. There are a hundred or more contractors with offices in the Arcade building. Dietrich never attended any conference in my office regarding contractors or anything else."

MAYOR CHANGES MIND ABOUT WATER METERS

Now Indorses What He Condemned Only a Year Ago—Favors Measuring the Supply.

Not only on the hump and on the granting of public franchises has Mayor Hays changed his mind in the past two years; he has also made a remarkable flop on the subject of water meters. He takes issue with Controller Larkin. The controller declares that meters will be a burden on the people and that the people are opposed to their water supply being measured. The mayor in answer to the controller says:

"Of course we want meters. The great trouble now is the waste of water and meters will stop that. The controller claims the filtration plant will supply all the water needed without the use of meters. That may be true now, but the consumption of water is constanty increasing and thousands of new buildings are going up."

During his first year in office Mayor Hays took a pronounced stand against water meters, claiming they would be a hardship on the house renter and would tend to make the consumers among the poorer classes less cleanly, because they would use less water in order to keep down their water bills.

FRICK COKE COMPANY WILL PLANT FORESTS

Thousands of Acres in Westmoreland, Fayette and Green Counties to Be Reclaimed.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The H. C. Frick Coal and Coke Company of Pittsburgh has formulated extensive plans for the planting of an extensive forest covering thousands of acres of land extending through Westmoreland, Fayette and Greene counties.

It is proposed to convert unused land on which was formerly a number of prosperous coal mines into a forest that will produce timber that may be used for fence and pit posts and within 50 or 60 years yield good-sized logs.

The agricultural department to which the Frick company made an application today for information and co-operation, is very favorably impressed with the plans of the company, and will render all assistance. Mr. S. N. Spring, forest assistant, has been detailed to make the preliminary examinations for the company.

SAYS FLINN RAN HIS AUTOMOBILE TOO FAST

An information was made yesterday by Inspector McAvoy of the East End district before Alderman Negley, charging George H. Flinn of 5025 Fifth avenue with exceeding the speed limit in his automobile. The information was made on information received. Policeman Arthur Gittings alleges that Flinn passed him in an automobile on the boulevard going at a speed greater than 20 miles an hour, and refused to halt.

This is the second time an information has been made against Flinn on the same charge.

MINERS WILL LISTEN TO PRESIDENT'S TALK

Mr. Roosevelt Will Speak at Wilkesbarre Today and at Chautauqua Tomorrow.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Aug. 9.—President Roosevelt will leave Oyster Bay tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock on what probably will be the last trip he will make during his summer sojourn at Sagamore Hill. Late tomorrow afternoon he will deliver an address to the United Mine Workers and members of the Catholic Total Abstinence union at Wilkesbarre, Pa., and at 10:20 a. m. on Friday he will speak before the Chautauqua assembly at Chautauqua, N. Y.

On the trip the president will be accompanied by his son Kermit, his nephew, Philip Roosevelt, a son of W. Emlen Roosevelt, Acting Secretary Benjamin F. Barnes, Jacob A. Riis, Surgeon Charles F. Stokes of the navy and M. C. Latta.

Brief stops will be made at Phillipsburg, N. J., and Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown, Pa., the president speaking at each place from the rear platform of his car. Wilkesbarre will be reached at 3 p. m., where the president will deliver his address at a stand on the river commons.

John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, will preside. Cardinal Gibbons is expected to be present and very probably will make a short address. At the conclusion of the meeting the president will be taken for a drive about the city and to the Wyoming monument.

Leaving Wilkesbarre at 7 p. m. and making brief stops at Sayre, Pa., and East Waverly, N. Y., the president will arrive at Chautauqua at 8:45 a. m. Friday. His address to the Chautauqua assembly will be delivered about half-past ten o'clock in the amphitheater. He will leave promptly at noon, the return trip to Jersey City being made over the Erie railroad. He is scheduled to arrive at 9:40 a. m. Saturday in Oyster Bay.

VICTIMS OF WRECKED STORE NEARLY ALL ACCOUNTED FOR

Thirteen Bodies Are Recovered, and It Is Believed Few Additional Corpses Will Be Found in Debris of Collapsed Structure.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Thirteen bodies have been recovered from the ruins of the department store of the John G. Myers Company, which collapsed yesterday morning. It is believed that very few additional bodies are in the debris.

All of the adult employes of the company have been accounted for. Of the 70 cash boys employed, tidings of a few have not been had. If any customers are in the ruins they are not Albanians, as no resident of this city has been reported missing.

The work of searching for bodies has been suspended temporarily by the necessity of taking down the south wall of the building, which threatened the workmen.

Mayor Gaus has ordered a thorough investigation of the cause of the disaster, to determine the responsibility. He will appoint a committee of three non-residents of Albany, one to be a civil engineer, and two contractors.

Of those now in the hospital, Helen Donahue is believed to be near the point of death and Mrs. William Borst of Windom, Minn., a shopper, has only an even chance of recovery.

The small number of deaths, small when it is considered that nearly 100 persons went down with the wreck, is accounted for by the fact that scarcely any of the brick walls fell, and that the debris consisted mostly of wooden timbers and plaster, with only an occasional iron girder. One of these iron beams crushed the life out of four young girls.

Have You Been to Pleasantville Terrace?

Hundreds of people who invested there have already nearly doubled their money.
Pleasantville Terrace is unquestionably the greatest real estate investment opportunity now available anywhere.
It is literally impossible to predict what the actual advance in the value of property there will be in the next few years.

Here Are Some of the Many Excellent Reasons That Have Induced So Many Thoughtful People to Invest in Pleasantville Terrace:

Pleasantville Terrace is intersected by the main line of the Atlantic City Railroad (Reading system); 11 minutes from the Boardwalk. All trains stop there, except express. See Reading Time Table.

Pleasantville Terrace is 55 feet higher than Atlantic City. No swamps. No malaria.

Atlantic City real estate values have grown enormously. The entire island was originally sold for less than $20 an acre—now its real estate valuation runs considerably over $90,000,000.

A lot 50x100, that cost $700, was sold a few months ago for $50,000. A property bought five years ago for $6,000 was sold a few days ago for $150,000. But Atlantic City has practically outgrown the boundaries of the island on which it stands. It must expand inland.

FRANKLIN P. STOY, MAYOR OF ATLANTIC CITY, says:

"I regard Pleasantville Terrace as the natural suburb of Atlantic City."

We anticipated this by purchasing the Gen. Doughty estate and laid out Pleasantville Terrace. If we had to buy this land now we would have to charge many times the prices we ask for Pleasantville Terrace lots.

Just think of it—a building lot 25x100 feet—11 minutes from the Boardwalk, for prices and terms like this:
1 lot, $ 30—$1 cash, $1 weekly. 2 lots, $ 55—$2 cash, $1 weekly. 3 lots, $ 80—$3 cash, $2 weekly.
4 lots, $110—$4 cash, $2 weekly. 5 lots, $130—$5 cash, $2 weekly.

The company definitely guarantees an increase in values, and insures successful development of Pleasantville Terrace by offering special premiums to those who will build. Thousands of dollars have already been spent in improvements.

Title is guaranteed. No mortgages. No taxes until 1906. No charge for deed. If you die before lot is paid, we issue deed to your heirs, without further payments.

Whether you want to buy for a home near the country's greatest playground, or for investment, by all means investigate this proposition. Don't delay. Every lot is an opportunity.

If you cannot come and see the property (we run free excursions every Wednesday and Sunday from Atlantic City), write for Book of Views in and around Pleasantville Terrace, showing beautiful lake for boating; some of the new cottages and the magnificent oak and pine trees that impart beauty and health to this delightful suburb of Atlantic City.

For this we will reserve desired number of lots. If, after further investigation, you decide you do not want the lots, your dollar will be promptly refunded.

PLEASURE PARTY COMES TO GRIEF

Wagon Containing 30 People Goes Over Embankment and 17 Sustain Injuries.

THREE DEATHS ARE PROBABLE

A pleasure party of 30 people from Homestead and vicinity met with a serious accident while returning from Whitehall, shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The wagon in which the party were riding slipped over a high embankment near Glass run, about three miles from Hays borough, and the pleasure seekers, wagon and horses went rolling to the bottom of the precipice, a distance of 25 feet. Nearly all the party were injured, the more serious of whom are:

JOSEPH M'MATH, aged 37, hotelkeeper of Eighth avenue, Homestead; injured about head, face and body, three ribs broken; condition critical.

MRS. GEORGE T. STITT, aged 27, wife of Councilman George Stitt of Munhall; injured about the body, limbs and head; condition serious.

GEORGE M'BETH, aged 34, of Fourth avenue, Homestead, driver of the rig; kicked on head by horse, unconscious for two hours.

TREASURER SHAW, aged 25, of Homestead borough; injured on face, body and hands.

MISS OLIVE M'QUAIDE, aged 19, of Homestead; face, hands and head injured.

EDWARD WEYLER, aged 32, Penn avenue, Pittsburgh; right ear torn off; condition serious owing to loss of blood.

MISS LOUISE EBNER, aged 18, daughter of Joseph L. Ebner of Braddock avenue, Braddock; injured on body, head and face; condition serious.

DAVID BARTON, aged 45, blacksmith, lives in Fourth avenue, Homestead; injured on head and body.

JAMES ALTMAN, aged 22, of Homestead; head and back injured.

JAMES COTTER, aged 19, of Dixon street, Homestead; trampled on by horses.

MISS EDNA FAY, aged 18, daughter of Peter Fay of McClure street, Homestead; injured on body and face.

MISS ANNA FAY, aged 21, sister of Edna; left arm and side injured.

ALBERT MILLER, aged 27, merchant, Eighth avenue and McClure street, Homestead; left side and face injured.

JAMES CARNELL, aged 24, of Eighth avenue, Homestead; left arm and head injured.

HARVEY SMELTZER, aged 23, of Homestead; head and body injured.

The party had attended a dance at Whitehall and were returning home in a large wagon to which four horses were attached. While passing over a narrow strip of road the lead horses slipped and shied, pulling the wagon to the edge of the high embankment and causing the wheels to slide down the hill.

The wagon overturned, pulling the horses with it, and men, women and horses were rolled down over the sharp rocks in a tangled mass. The horses and wagon fell on a number of the party. Those of the party who escaped with slight injuries, after recovering their composure, began the work of assisting the more seriously injured. The nearest house was two miles from the scene of the accident, and it was a long time before lights were secured and all of the injured taken from beneath the wagon.

Mrs. George Stitt and George McBeth, the driver, were pinioned beneath the heavy wagon for nearly two hours. All of the injured were taken to farm houses in wagons and given attention until morning, when carriages from Homestead conveyed them to their homes.

Two of the horses were so seriously injured that it is thought they will have to be shot. The wagon is a complete wreck.

Mrs. George T. Stitt, Joseph McMath and Miss Edna Fay were reported as being in an extremely serious condition last night, and it is feared they may not recover.

BISHOP CANEVIN ACTIVE IN WORK

Presides at the Meeting of Catholic Total Abstainence Union in Wilkesbarre.

CARDINAL GIBBONS THERE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 9.—The national convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence union opened today with pontifical high mass in St. Mary's church. About 800 delegates are present. At the Ninth regiment armory Bishop Canevin of Pittsburgh, the national president, presided and Mayor Kirkendall of this city, welcomed the delegates and assured them that they would find more temperance men in this city than in any other city of its size in the country. Bishop Canevin responded and spoke particularly of the importance of the present convention, owing to the coming of President Roosevelt and Cardinal Gibbons.

Chancellor Turner of Philadelphia will read a brief from the pope on temperance, sent especially for the occasion at the solicitation of Archbishop Ryan, the only brief of its kind ever sent to this country by the pope.

Philadelphia still holds the first rank for membership. Pittsburgh showed good progress during the year. The Erie and Altoona unions have been consolidated and under the leadership of Father Sneedy of Altoona, show large increase in membership.

Boston leads in the work in the New England states. The report says the west has not the same opportunities of the east, but it is holding its own.

The report of the third vice president, Mrs. Eleanor Lake of St. Louis, praised President Roosevelt for his honesty and high aim in public and private life.

The afternoon session was made notable by the presence of Cardinal Gibbons, who next to President Roosevelt is the most distinguished guest of the union for tomorrow's celebration.

As the cardinal entered the armory he was escorted by Bishop Hoban of Scranton and Monsignor Coffey of Carbondale and several priests. He was greeted by Bishop Canevin, who said:

"It is a great pleasure and a great honor to the delegates of nearly 100,000 members of this organization to welcome in our midst the foremost churchmen and Catholic citizen of America."

The cardinal delivered a short address to the delegates, complimenting them upon the organization in which they were connected, remarking also that he had been on the railroad all day and was no longer a young man—that he had passed his 71st milestone and "when you pass that milestone you are quite apt to get weary."

On suggestion of Bishop Canevin, a motion was made and adopted, that a committee of five be appointed to formulate some plan by which the objects of the society might be better advanced than under the present constitution, they to report the result of their deliberations to the next annual convention.

Soon after Cardinal Gibbons' arrival there was dispatched from the convention hall the following cablegram:

To His Holiness, Pius X., Roma, Italy:

Most Holy Father.—The Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, already blessed by Leo XIII., and numbering more than 80,000 members, being assembled in convention in the city of Wilkesbarre, diocese of Scranton, and honored by the presence of his eminence, Cardinal Gibbons, and Presidential Guest, prostrate thanks to your holiness for your blessing just received, and extends its best wishes. (Signed) MICHAEL HOBAN,
Bishop of Scranton,
REGIS CANEVIN, Bishop of Pittsburgh, and President of the Union.

This cablegram was in reply to one received from his holiness, Pius X., the contents of which will not be made public until tomorrow.

RIVERMEN WANT ACTION ON BROWNSVILLE BRIDGE

Time Limit Has Expired, and Injunction in District of Columbia Court Hangs.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Before the close of the week it is expected that the long drawn out contest over the Brownsville bridge will be carried into the United States court. On the first of the month, the time which was allowed by the war department to the Monongahela Bridge company for the compliance of the order raising the company's bridge crossing the river at Brownsville, expired.

Since that time the war department has been receiving some urgent requests from river men asking that it enforce its order and it is thought that the case will be referred to the department of justice within a few days.

After an extended hearing on August 1, 1903, the war department issued an order requiring the Monongahela Bridge company to raise its bridge. Several attempts have been made by the bridge company to secure a rehearing of the case, but these efforts were without success.

Several months ago the attorneys for the bridge company made an application in the District of Columbia court asking for an injunction restraining Secretary Taft from executing the order of the law department. A date was set for the hearing of the injunction, but upon the request of the attorneys of the bridge company it was indefinitely postponed. The injunction proceedings is still pending in the district court.

Cy. Young No. 2 again threw a mystic spell over the Pirates. Boston won from Pittsburgh yesterday 5 to 2, and the person who did the damage to the locals was this one Young, who had his curves, control and side-arm movement working well.

The Pirates found him for seven hits, but four players secured them: Carisch with three; Ritchey with two, and Howard and Hillebrand one each. Young pitched great ball, and apparently Lauterborn was trying to see how badly he could act. Had the decision been against Boston Lauterborn could be blamed for it.

Homer Hillebrand was sent to the firing line to down Young, but the high sign was raised against him in the fifth inning when Boston laid against his curves at a lively rate, getting three hits and the same number of runs, one walk starting the trouble. Sam Leever was sent to the rescue, Hillebrand going to middle to relieve Beaumont.

Umpire Klem was another prominent person on the diamond. Klem umpired a good game, and really had few close plays, but his trouble started in the ninth inning when he sent all the Pittsburgh players setting on the bench to the club house.

The Pirates were in the field and Abbattichio was at bat. When Leever pitched high on his head it put the latter off considerably. Klem stopped the game and warned them to desist under penalty of being sent from the lot. On the second offense, and after being laughed at by the players and spectators in the immediate neighborhood of the bench, he ordered the bench cleared. The game was stopped while Robertaille, Case, Lynch, Phillippe, Schlei, Smith and Flaherty filed off the field. The mascot brought up the rear.

Clymer was the last man retired in the ninth inning, being thrown out at first by Raymer on a close play. After the game, and while he was going to his dressing room in the grand stand Klem was jostled about by spectators, but the police went to his rescue and no trouble ensued.

Boston started after Hillebrand at the start, Tenney hitting to right center for three bases. Dolan's tap went to Hillebrand and Tenney was well up the line towards home, but Hillebrand seemed to lose himself and threw low to first, Tenney scoring and Dolan being declared safe. Hillebrand failed to foot Abbattichio and the latter was walked. Tenney followed with a wild throw to right, Clymer threw to catch "Batty" at third, but the ball took a bad bound and Boston was credited with its second run.

The fifth was the last of Hillebrand on the rubber for the afternoon. With one out Needham was sent to first on balls, and Young uncorked a two-bagger of the line-drive variety into right center, scoring Needham. Abbattichio sent Young home with a single, and he then very promptly stole second. Ritchey nailed Tenney's hot drive and threw to first in time to retire the runner. Dolan dropped a single into right and Abbattichio tallied.

The Pirates meanwhile were having trouble trying to get acquainted with Young. Ritchey opened the third by walking to first on balls, and Dolan, after stopping Carisch's single, the first of the game for Pittsburgh, made a wild throw into left, the ball going to the bleachers. Ritchey scored on the heave.

Carisch singled again in the fifth and Lauterborn, after getting Hillebrand's grounder, made a wild throw over Raymer's head, Carisch getting to third. At this juncture Needham had a short passed ball, which Klem hit with his foot and Carisch was called in from third.

Not another run was dragged over the plate until the ninth when Lauterborn again misfielded. Ritchey walloped the ball to left for two bases with one out. Raymer threw out Carisch, and Hillebrand sent up a short pop fly which Lauterborn dropped. Hillebrand then sent the ball to left for three bases. Clymer closed the game by grounding out, Raymer to Tenney. The score:

AKRON HOODOO IS BROKEN BY THE YOUNGSTOWN TEAM

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—Youngstown broke the Akron hoodoo this afternoon and won the game 4 to 2. Kommer pitched, and while he was wild he was in good form, but his support was not gilt-edged by any means. The playing of the locals was splendid, and Armstrong outpitched Kommer. It was the first time this season that Youngstown has defeated Akron, but Manager Hogan says the hoodoo is gone and all future games in the two teams should be victories for his nine. The score:

BUTLER, PA., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—After winning six straight games Butler lost to Homestead today through inability to connect with Eastley's curves. Dr. E. L. Wasson of the Butler club has wired Sheriff Keebert of Waynesburg an acceptance of Koeberle's challenge through The Gazette to play the Waynesburg team against any team in Western Pennsylvania for $1,000 a side. DR. FREDERICKS LEADS GOLFERS

Oil City Expert Creates a New Record for Chicago Course. Pittsburghers Qualify.

ORMISTON FALLS OUTSIDE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WHEATON, ILL., Aug. 9.—No Amateur ever displayed such brilliant golf over the Chicago Golf club's course as was offered by Dr. D. P. Fredericks of Oil City in today's concluding round of qualifying play for the national championship. His 75 today is the best of the tournament, and his 155 for the 36 qualifying holes is a new record, breaking the one of 156 made by himself in the team competition Monday for the Olympic cup. Dr. Fredericks returned the low qualifying score and led a field of the strongest golfers ever appearing in an American championship and over a course which applies the severest test of skill. For this he will be awarded a handsome silver cup.

On this, the second day of the tournament which tees the conclusion of the qualifying round of 36 holes, 18 Tuesday and 18 Wednesday, the prowess of the Pittsburghers, or at all events, of Western Pennsylvania golfers, is so well established that they are being pointed out everywhere. Of the 32 to get in the charmed circle, Western Pennsylvania furnishes four, Dr. D. P. Fredericks, 155; W. C. Fownes, Jr., 162; H. C. Fownes, 169, and E. M. Byers, 173. It will be regretted that sound golfer George A. Ormiston fell outside. This is the first time that he ever failed to qualify in a national tournament. It required 174 or better. His 181 was due to the fact that he is a sick man.

Of the Pittsburghers Dr. Fredericks finished first, W. C. Fownes, Jr., third; H. C. Fownes, fourteenth, and E. M. Byers, twenty-fourth. The Western Pennsylvania boys who failed to qualify were: C. B. Fownes, 180; George A. Ormiston, 181; William Frew, 181; S. Martin, 185; J. P. Byers, 186; S. E. Giles, 187; H. C. Roose, Oil City, 192; J. S. Blair, 194; B. B. Case, Oil City, 198; J. H. Snowden, Oil City, 204, and Dr. M. D. Ritchie, 207.

There are six players tied at 174 for four places. They are R. D. Bokum, Jr., A. L. White, H. J. Tweedie, S. G. Stickney, H. W. Fraser and A. B. Lambert. They will play off tomorrow morning and two drop out.

While 18 the Interscholastic champion whose 98 yesterday was thought to put him out of the running, his 81 today will give him another chance in the play-off for the tie. As the players came in it was at first thought that 175 would get in. This was the score registered by former Champion Louis N. James, and much speculation was indulged in over the matter. James had to play off a tie at Glenview in 1902 for last place, and then went on and won the championship.

The fact that Ormiston, James and Walter E. Egan failed to qualify was much commented upon, and removes from the competition dangerous factors.

Those who qualified and start tomorrow on the match play rounds, however, get there through superlative golf and not by flukes.

Dr. Fredericks is being picked tonight as the probable winner. Jim Foulis, the club's professional, will take him against the field.

The universality of golf as a sport in the United States is shown by the fact that all religions go in for it. C. E. Smoot, a cousin of Senator Reed Smoot, has qualified, and Rev. Simon Carr of Philadelphia, a Roman Catholic priest, will be a hard player to beat in the match play rounds.

Canada will try with George S. Lyon, F. R. Martin and A. C. Perry. The east will rely upon Travis, Travers and Herreshoff. Chicago pins its faith on H. Chandler Egan, Hugh Campbell of Wheaton has suddenly come forward as a dark horse. Western Pennsylvania has a strong trio in Dr. Fredericks, W. C. Fownes, Jr., and E. M. Byers as any locality can muster.

Dr. Fredericks' golf today and consistent play all week projects him out as the probable winner. His 75 should have been a 73 today, as three times at least he should have gone down with any kind of luck. He missed a 4-foot put at the first for a four, got par fours at the second and third holes, the fifth he sliced into the bunker, nibbled out and played a full clerk out to left of hole and missed a 5-foot put for a five.

It was at the ninth hole where he lost a stroke. He sliced over the pond and pitched within an inch of the hole for a two, but the high wind blew it on the lip of the cup, and he had to take another stroke to get down.

At the tenth hole he was three inches short for a two, getting away with a screaming drive at the eleventh hole. He pitched within seven feet of the hole and ran down his put. At the thirteenth hole he ran down a 20-foot put. On the home hole he missed for the fourth time unidentified short put and spoiled a 73 for the homeward journey. His scintillating golf is the talk of the hour. His card today was:

Dr. Fredericks, Oil City—

Out	5	4	4	5	6	5	4	4	3	—40
In	3	5	4	4	3	4	5	3	6	—35—75

W. C. Fownes, Jr., did not have as fast a round today as he did Tuesday, when he registered 75, taking 84 today. His trouble was in going out when he hooked nearly everything going, taking 45. He made the homeward journey in 39 after topping two shots in succession on the home green. His card was:

W. C. Fownes, Jr.—

Out	5	5	5	6	5	7	4	5	3	—45
In	4	5	4	4	4	4	4	7	3	—39—84

H. C. Fownes, playing with the Canadian champion, George S. Lyon, registered an 82. The Pittsburgher was too fast for the Canadian and outplayed him all the way. Lyon was erratic going out and could not keep on the course, taking a 46. Coming home, however, our friend across the border made the trip in 36. He drove a terrific ball. The card of Mr. Fownes was:

H. C. Fownes—

Out	5	5	5	5	5	6	4	4	3	—42
In	3	5	4	7	3	5	5	4	4	—40—82

E. M. Byers, who had 89 on Tuesday, improved somewhat when he negotiated the course in 84 today. He simply cannot get away from the tee and has lost his cunning with the mashie. When he returned a 173 for the 36 holes a subdued "good, good," was heard on every hand, for it would have been a source of deep regret if he had failed to qualify. His admirers think that he will get on his game with the first match play round. His card was:

E. M. Byers—

Out	5	4	5	6	6	5	5	4	3	—44
In	3	4	4	6	5	5	4	4	5	—40—84

The detail scores of the other Pittsburghers were:

UP THE RIVER GO TRADE BOOMERS

Fourth Tour of Merchants & Manufacturers' Association Today and Tomorrow.

WELCOME FROM EVERY TOWN

Togged out in her finest attire, "Great Occasion" being evident in her every appearance, the good ship "Island Queen," Capt. John F. Klein, master, will at 8 o'clock this morning swing away from the Wood street wharf, having on board about 125 members, officers and guests of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, and Rocereto's band of 26 pieces.

For two days the steamer will be the headquarters of the lively young Pittsburgh commercial organization and in that time all the important commercial towns on the Monongahela river between Pittsburgh and Brownsville will have received a visit from the "M. & M."

The number of courtesies offered by the prosperous towns on the river has been a surprise even to those who have made the other trade extension tours of the "M. & M." From every one of them has come the assurance that the glad hand will be extended by the most representative citizens, merchants, bankers, professional men and others.

As already announced, today's visits will include the towns as far as Monongahela City. Then the steamer will proceed to Brownsville, where the night will be spent. Returning tomorrow the party will stop at the towns between Brownsville and Monongahela City. Here is the schedule for the two days.

The fourth excursion of this kind promises to be in every way as great a success as those which have already been carried out. The Monongahela river has long been lined with large towns which bring much trade to the Pittsburgh marts, but the rapid growth of the district in the past few years, when large towns have suddenly sprung into being and continued to flourish, has much increased that trade. That this is realized is shown by the following list of Pittsburghers on the trip:

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—George Clinton of Pittsburgh was caught in a heavy breaker today and swept out beyond his depth near South Carolina avenue. Pittsburgh Vacation School Exhibit.

Washington park will remain open throughout the summer and the kindergarten and some of the gymnasium work will be continued until the first of September. This has been decided upon because of the increasing attendance at the vacation school during the last five weeks and to meet the demand which has been voiced in the Herron Hill district, where the people seem very appreciative of the new recreation park.

Yesterday morning the annual exhibition of the vacation school and playground at the park was conducted. There was an attendance of 325 children and a large number of visitors. The children showed the usual routine of the morning session, the little ones playing in the sand boxes in one of the half open log cabins, the kindergarten classes showing the occupation work in another cabin, which has been called the George Washington, while in the third log cabin, named Abraham Lincoln, the vacation school classes in nature work were conducted. The visitors were pleased with the exhibition in basketry and sewing and enthusiastic over the work of the children in the gymnasium. There has been some delay in fully equipping the gymnasium, and the shower baths, which are to be for the use of the girls, are not yet in. The sessions, commencing next week and lasting until the first of September, will be from 10 until 12 in the morning and from 1:30 until 4 in the afternoon.

In the playground and vacation school at the Moorhead school building the singing of the children and their gymnastic drills were especially interesting. The boys have made great progress in their manual training work and both girls and boys show some fine examples in the art classes under the direction of Miss Haymaker. The Mourhead school is also in the Herron Hill district.

Sewing was one of the most successful forms of work taken up in the vacation school at the Riverside school in the West End. This school is unique among the other schools selected for summer playgrounds and vacation schools, as it is in the heart of a mill district with few families living about it. The attendance this year was almost double that of a year ago, and the class spirit was stronger than heretofore. The teachers are handicapped in the work, as they have no chairman and no women's club committee in charge, as in the other schools. James Gardner, who last year had charge of the manual training work, was made head teacher and was practically the supervisor this year. Under his direction excellent results were attained, the children getting down to work early and keeping up their attendance. Yesterday the exhibition was conducted in the school rooms, which had been decorated with flowers by the children. The daily drills were given, the children sang under the direction of Miss Grace Clayland, while the work in the art room under the direction of Miss Walker was exceptionally good. Miss Jo Grimes has had charge of the sewing, the more advanced girls making dainty white Swiss aprons and white cambric skirts trimmed with embroidery. There was a fine showing in the manual training work.

A large number of visitors attended the exhibition yesterday afternoon in the Ralston school, one of the largest in attendance and attendance in the city. The average daily attendance has been 275. The exhibition of work was displayed in the different school rooms, while the children themselves showed the routine of the school session, the class work and the drills in physical culture. The Winodausis club has been in charge of the Ralston school. Mrs. D. C. Collins being chairman of the committee of women from the club.

Women Powerless to Save Trees.

The attention of the forestry committee for the western district of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women has been called to the condition of the trees in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. Especially in Allegheny they are infested by an insect which has caused the leaves to turn brown and fall before August is half over. The street trees in some sections of Pittsburgh are being ravaged by a plague of insects or worms. The committee acknowledges itself powerless to do anything to protect the trees, but the chairman, Miss Helen Grimes, is considering the preparation of literature to be distributed this fall or early in the spring suggesting some plan for saving the trees, some treatment which can be given before the trees begin to bud in April and May.

Yesterday Miss Grimes said that could the trees which shade the streets of Pittsburgh be placed under the care of the bureau of parks a great deal of the trouble would be avoided, as the trees in Schenley and Highland parks are well cared for, and are in a flourishing condition. But they have not yet been brought under the park system and the women are rather discouraged as to the possibility of ever reaching that end.

Another trouble which confronts the committee is the disagreement among experts as to the proper treatment to be given the trees to protect them from the pest of caterpillars, moths and other worms or insects. No two experts agree and, in consequence, people put a band of flypaper around the trunk of the trees, when, as a matter of fact, the insects are already in the top of the trees, and never go down far enough to encounter the flypaper. The greatest devastation caused by these insects is observed in Allegheny and down the Ohio as far as the Sewickley valley.

The forestry committees in several of the state federations have been turning their attention lately to the subject of the trees, cheered on by the success which the forestry committee of the Massachusetts State Federation has had in ridding the trees of that state of much of the plague which in former years devastated them. This crusade of the club women was started in February, 1904, by the issuing of a circular by Mrs. Rufus P. Williams, which was illustrated with pictures of the moth, caterpillar and nest and of trees which were stripped of leaves in a few days by these pests. Though hampered by politics, as in every other state, the committee, supported by the club women throughout the state, secured results which were effective. The women's clubs in many towns gained the co-operation of town officials, the press and the tree wardens. One club, with the aid of the children, burned 375,000 nests, and still another employs men who go with pruning forks from house to house asking the owners permission to clear the trees of the owners' pests. The plague has not been exterminated, but a long step toward that end has been made.

In New York a somewhat similar condition prevails, and the club women are awakening to the need for some effort to rid the city and state of a plague of moths. The park department is ignoring the state of affairs, and the club women have been appealed to to start a crusade like that in Massachusetts.

Breakfast for the Southern Club.

Mrs. John C. Glenn, who returned a couple of weeks ago from a western trip of two months' duration, yesterday morning gave a breakfast to the members of the Southern club at her home in Chislett street. It was the first reunion of the women since the club season closed in May, and covers were laid for 12. The guests included Mrs. Joseph O. Ewing, Mrs. W. A. Kulp, Miss Belle Viets, Mrs. James M. Drill, Mrs. John M. L'Amour, Mrs. W. C. Weckerle, Miss Weckerle, Mrs. W. C. Murphy, Miss Mary Glenn, Mrs. William Glenn and Mrs. Franklin B. Ramsome. The decorations in the dining-room consisted of sweet peas, with goldenglow and gladiolas in the parlors. The breakfast was a typical southern breakfast of fried chicken, waffles and hot biscuit. The first meeting of the Southern club in the fall will be held on Wednesday, October 4, at the home of Mrs. Kulp.

Summer Sewing Class.

Under the direction of Miss Weihl a sewing class of 50 young girls has been carried on in the Columbia Council school since the first of July. It will close the last of August. The class meets four mornings each week and has been doing excellent work in plain sewing. The purpose of the school has been to train the girls in plain sewing, with the view of enabling them to become seamstresses and fit them to earn a living for themselves. Some of the girls have learned to do beautiful embroidery work, being especially skilful in intitating. They are just now taking up the cutting and making of dresses for little children. In September there will be no classes in the Columbian Council school save the night classes, but throughout the month the residents will enroll for the classes which will begin their work the first week in October.

SOCIETY

MISS HELEN W. MACBETH has chosen Tuesday, September 12, as the date for her wedding to Dr. William B. Boggess of Center avenue, Shadyside. Miss Macbeth is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Macbeth of Amberson avenue, Shadyside, who, with their children, are spending the hot months in Bethlehem, N. H. They took possession of a handsome new home in the mountain town this summer and it will be the scene of the coming wedding, no further plans for which have as yet been made. Among the Pittsburghers who expect to go to Bethlehem to be in attendance at the wedding are Judge and Mrs. James Hay Reed, neighbors of the Macbeths in Amberson avenue. Dr. Boggess has recently purchased the house which he is now occupying in Center avenue, and he and his bride will make it their home at the conclusion of their wedding trip.

Honess-Scholl.

Lace in a wedding belt pattern trimmed the crepe de mentor gown worn last evening by Miss Florence Honess when she became the wife of John R. Scholl of West Newton, Pa. The marriage was solemnized at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Honess, in Fulton street, Allegheny. The bride is organist of the West Newton Presbyterian church, the pastor of which, the Rev. Dr. J. S. Garvin, performed the ceremony last evening. The only attendants were the maid of honor and best man, Miss Minnie Honess, a sister of the bride, and Jasper Scholl, brother of the bridegroom. The maid of honor was gowned in white lawn, daintily trimmed with valenciennes lace. She carried no flowers, but the bride's bouquet was of white roses. Chiffon roses entered into the trimming of the latter's gown and her only ornament was a pearl and diamond brooch, Mr. Scholl's gift. The house was very simply decorated. After the reception and wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Scholl began their wedding trip, at the conclusion of which they will be at home in West Newton, receiving their friends after October 1. Their new home is a wedding gift from Mr. Scholl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Scholl of West Newton. They were among the out-of-town wedding guests, the list of which also included Charles Honess of Asheville, N. C., a brother of the bride and a former Pittsburgher; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Taylor of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Scholl and Miss Mary Pinkerton of West Newton and Mrs. Fanny Carothers of Fairchance.

All is in readiness for the departure of the Yankanuck Fishing club on Sunday evening. The party this year will be much smaller than formerly, as ladies are to be excluded. The entire party will include Guy P. McCandless, John C. Haymaker, A. Wilson McCandless, George Lehner, W. S. Brown, E. H. Kopp, Jr., F. P. Trimble, F. W. Bacon, P. P. Provost, E. G. Smith, Clyde Overholt, R. D. Long, Dr. D. Percy Hickling, J. F. Weaver, C. L. Babcock, Ralph Overholt, Dr. L. W. Swope and Stephen Stone. The club members and their friends will leave in their special car on Sunday evening, arriving at Yankanuck island on Monday. They will be met at Penetang, Canada, where they leave the car, by the liner City of Toronto. Their return is set for Sunday morning, August 27, and the usual plans will be followed while in camp during the two weeks.

Cards in Oakmont.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the season was the euchre and fancy work which Mrs. Isaac Wade gave yesterday afternoon at "Robinswood," Oakmont. Ten tables of six-hand euchre were called into play, and the prizes were won by Miss Ruth Johnston, Miss Katherine Macrum and Mrs. J. J. Campbell. Mrs. J. M. Witherspoon won the prize awarded in a guessing contest participated in by the fancy work guests. The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Miss Justine Gertrude Wade, Miss Elizabeth S. Wade, Miss Mary Thomas, Miss Josephine Thomas and Mrs. George S. Macrum, and among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Ernest Mayer, Mrs. Joseph Mayer and Miss Muriel Hope of New Brighton; Miss Elsie Metcalf of the East End and Miss Lucy Hay of Allegheny. Mrs. Wade Wilson of New Brighton, a cousin of the hostess, was the guest of honor.

Colvin-Sutphen.

At 7:30 o'clock last evening Miss Mary Colvin, niece of Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell of Center avenue and Graham street, and Charles Richard Sutphen, were married by the Rev. Victor Bucher in the chapel of the East Liberty Presbyterian church. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Sutphen left for Detroit and Michigan resorts. They will be at home after November 15 in the new Negley apartments, Baum street and Negley avenue.

Congratulating Fair Captain.

She entered the race, not thinking she could win, but surprised herself and friends by pulling down the blue ribbon, the coveted trophy.

Family to Tour Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. William Carey Coffin of Howe street, East End, and their little daughter, Miss Mary Oliver Coffin, expect to leave the city shortly and will sail from New York for Europe aboard the Kaiser Wilhelm on Tuesday, August 15. Their home in the East End will be closed during their absence of two months. They expect to tour England, Germany, Switzerland and France. Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Morrow of Center avenue will give a farewell dinner at the Country club for Mr. and Mrs. Coffin this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Ramson of Winchiddle avenue, with a party of friends, including Dr. and Mrs. Schirmer, are spending August in the Georgian Bay region, Canada.

Dr. Young in Pittsburgh.

The Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, who is summering on the Lake of Bays, Canada, spent yesterday in Pittsburgh making arrangements for the opening of the new Second Presbyterian church about the second Sunday in September. Next Sunday morning Dr. Young will preach in St. James' Methodist Episcopal church, New York City, to the combined congregations of the Harlem Presbyterian, Mt. Morris Baptist, Pilgrim Congregational, Church of the Puritans, Puritan Presbyterian and St. James' Methodist. On August 27 he will preach the closing sermon of the Sunday afternoon sessions of the Christian Workers' congress at Winona Lake, Ind.

Miss Nancy Evadnah Dodds and John D. Eardley are to be married this evening at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Dodds, in Collins avenue, East End. The ceremony will be performed at 8 o'clock by the Rev. E. A. Littell, a retired United Presbyterian pastor, the bridal couple being unattended. In Ensold street, Shadyside, Mr. Eardley and his bride will make their home after a short wedding trip.

The following is from the Oil City Derrick of Wednesday: "P. C. H. Lauinger of Pittsburgh, who, with his mother, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Boyle of Reason Heights, attained to the dignity of his fifth birthday on Tuesday and celebrated the event by giving a dinner to his Oil City relatives at the Venango club, of which he is a representative member."

To Camp With Boys.

Mrs. Oliver A. Blackburn of Oakland square will leave today for Maple Springs, on Lake Chautauqua, New York. Mrs. Blackburn goes to the lake for a two weeks' stay and will be followed on Saturday by her two sons, Lane and James B. Blackburn, who, as members of the Boys' brigade connected with St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church, go into camp on that day. Mrs. Robert Ostermaier will also be a guest at the camp.

R. passenger depot will be within five minutes' walk of the center of this addition—28 minutes from the city. Can you secure all these advantages in any one other place in Greater Pittsburgh? TRADING LESS ACTIVE; PRICES AVERAGED LOWER

London a Liberal Seller of American Stocks—Crucible Steel Furnished a Third of the Business on the Local Board.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Trading was less active on the New York stock exchange yesterday, and the course of prices was irregular. The sales slightly exceeded 525,000 shares, and at the close prices averaged slightly lower. The news of the day was lacking in interest or influence.

London was a liberal seller of American securities at the opening, its sales of Union Pacific alone amounting to fully 25,000 shares. It was a fact, however, that foreign offerings were readily absorbed and prices were strongest during the early part of the session. Union Pacific advanced to 132½, but it subsequently lost all the gain and closed ⅛ lower for the day. At one time during the day there was very heavy buying of Atchison, and that stock advanced sharply, but the net gain was only ¼ per cent.

A matter of comment was that the buying of both Union Pacific and Atchison was by houses which often operate for the large speculative cliques, and that there was no corresponding increase in the buying orders by houses which act more for the general public. Meanwhile, some interest supplied the demand, and whether it was profit-taking or short sale was a question on which opinion was divided. The dealing in the remainder of the railroad list was of the same character, and while prices reached the highest average for the year, the gains were not held. There is a long list of active stocks the net changes in which ranged from ⅛ to ¼ per cent, indicating the sluggishness of the movement.

The largest net gains for the day in active stocks were 2 per cent for Atlantic Coast Line and ⅞ per cent for Illinois Central. Concerning the latter there was a revival of the rumor of a deal for the control of the road by Union Pacific. Despite the spread of yellow fever, there was very little change in the southern group of stocks. The Pennsylvania group averaged a decline of ⅜ per cent. Delaware & Hudson scored a new high price for the year, by advancing to 205½, and the anthracite group as a whole was strong.

The strongest member of the industrial group was American Smelting, which advanced to 125¾, the highest price ever quoted, and it closed at a gain of 2¾ per cent over Tuesday's close. Amalgamated Copper was a little firmer, advancing to 85 and closing at 84½, a net gain of ⅝. Sugar closed a point lower. Fluctuations in the iron and steel stocks were comparatively narrow. United States Steel common closed ¼ lower and the preferred unchanged, while the sinking fund bonds closed ⅜ lower. Tennessee Coal and Iron closed 1 per cent lower.

The strength of wheat and the steadiness of corn on the eve of the government crop report, which will be issued today at intervals, as the figures are compiled by the agricultural department, may have had something to do with the reactionary tendency in the stock market during the latter part of the session. The strength in wheat, however, was based more upon reports received as to the condition of the Russian crop than upon any fear of an unfavorable report today on the domestic crop. In fact the greatest confidence exists that the crop report today will be favorable. Cotton broke from 15 to 20 points and closed at the decline.

Call rates for money ruled at 1¾ and 2 per cent all day and was quoted easy. Nevertheless the decline in New York exchange at several important interior points foreshadows early shipments of currency to the west and south and the probability of higher rates to stock market operators in the near future.

In the local stock market Crucible Steel issues furnished fully a third of the total business. The preferred stock rallied to 65½, the highest on this movement, and closed at 65, a net advance of ½ per cent. The common stock sold to the extent of 1,195 shares at 12⅝@12¾ and closed unchanged for the day. The National Fire Proofing stocks were also fairly active, the common selling unchanged at 8 and the preferred advancing to 29¾. The natural gas stocks were extremely dull and fractionally lower. Pittsburgh Brewing stocks closed ⅛ lower, and Independent Brewing bonds declined ¼ to 107. Lustre declined to and closed at 36. United Copper declined 1⅛ per cent, to 32¼. Tonopah Extension rallied 10 cents a share to $5.75, and Ohio Tonopah was higher at 32 cents. Westinghouse Electric closed ¼ lower, at 84, but Air Brake and Switch and Signal each closed ½ higher. Pittsburgh Coal stocks were dull but firm.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The head of a Pittsburgh house which is a member of the New York stock exchange yesterday wired a number of prominent New York houses asking for an opinion as to the extent of the short interest in the stock market. The replies were not unanimous, but the majority seemed to think that the short interest was not very large; that the bears ran quickly when the market rallied, and were content with moderate profits made available by slight reactions. Another Pittsburgh house which wired for an opinion on the situation received an answer to the effect that the position was favorable for a bear raid engineered in the interests of the bucketshops. It was said that the larger New England bucketshops work more or less in harmony, and when enough of their customers get long of the market as to justify a raid to wipe out margins the bucketshops syndicate their interests and sell short on the stock exchange. On quotations thus made they wipe their customers off their books. It was thought to be a little significant that Mr. Lawson, for the first time since he returned from his lecturing tour in the west, yesterday expressed for publication his opinion that Amalgamated Copper is the best safe on the list and Copper Range is the best purchase.

The character of yesterday's market was not essentially changed. Selling of any importance was only in evidence as prices were bid up to meet the ideas of holders of stocks, and it was when bids were withdrawn and quotations allowed to sag that the dullness of the market became most profound. The news bearing on values was of the same general tenor as for some time past and served to keep up the spirit of confidence in business and industrial conditions which form the underlying basis for the firm undertone of the present market.

The actual opening of the peace conference at Portsmouth, N. H., did not change the recently prevalent view of that event held in the financial district, which may be described as one of confidence in ultimate peace, but with a conservative reservation against possible complications. It is the general feeling, nevertheless, that a rupture of negotiations and a determination to continue the war would precipitate a hazardous situation in the financial markets. So far as the immediate effect in Wall street would be concerned, the determination by the Japanese government of the disposition of the large funds on deposit in New York to its credit would be the prime factor.

North Butte Mining directors yesterday declared initial dividends on the stock of 60 cents a share, payable in October; 75 cents a share, payable in January, and $1 a share, payable in April. This is at the rate of 20 per cent per annum. The stock declined slightly, being quoted at 24½ bid, 25½ asked.

Directors of the National Enamaling and Stamping Company yesterday passed the dividend on the common stock, but declared the annual dividend of 7 per cent on the preferred stock, payable in quarterly installments. The company has an authorized capital of $2,500,000 common stock and $10,000,000 preferred stock. The passage of the dividend on the common, which last year paid 4 per cent, had a rather depressing effect upon the New York list of industrial stocks.

Philadelphia was a buyer in Pittsburgh yesterday of Golden Anchor at 49 cents. It was the selling for Philadelphia account last week which broke the price from $1 to 75 cents.

A prominent member of the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday intimated that the buying of Union Switch and Signal common was based upon the expectation that a new issue of stock would be made in the near future, which would carry valuable rights to stockholders. In June, 1903, the company sold $500,000 new common stock at $70 a share. In the market yesterday Switch common, paying 8 per cent on $50 par value, sold at 86¼, while Electric, paying 10 per cent of $50, sold at 84.

During the past two days more than 2,000 shares of National Fireproofing common have changed hands at the uniform price of 8. The preferred stock firmer and on sales of 775 shares closed ½ higher at 29¾.

There were sales on the local board yesterday of 17 shares Monongahela Water at 40, unchanged from the last previous sale. The stock has been coming out for sale since the abandonment of the Harmony-cut project and the subsidence of the agitation for the purchase of the water company by the city.

Crucible Steel preferred advanced to 65½, which is the top price reached last March, but it is still 1¼ per cent below the high point of the year, which was quoted last January.

Some weakness developed in the iron and steel stocks when it was known that the Iron Age's statistics for July showed an additional accumulation of stocks of pig iron on hand in spite of a further curtailment of production, as compared with June. The weekly review of the trade, however, was very cheerful.

The valuation of building permits taken out in the month of July in 20 leading cities in the United States was $55,365,000, an increase of 52 per cent over the same month last year. Here is some explanation for the activity in small structural steel shapes, and the figures should mean increased business for such companies as National Fireproofing and Harbison-Walker Refractories. ——also help to explain the increased demand for glass, which should be bullish on stocks like Pittsburgh Plate Glass and American Window Glass.

The gross earnings of New York Central for July were $7,135,780, an increase of $691,580.

The North Pennsylvania Railroad Company has declared a dividend of 1 per cent, payable August 25 to holders of record August 9.

Between May 15 and July 26 225 representative securities, dealt in at the London stock exchange, were almost unchanged in price. The quotable value was £3,076,772,600 in May and £3,076,025,000 in July, a decrease of £746,00.

The Street Railway Journal has compiled the following interesting statistics of the mileage, cars and capitalization of the street and elevated railways of the United States for 1904, as compared with 1903:

	1904.	Increase.
Track-mileage	36,197	1,731
Cars	51,904	1,906
Capital stock	$1,701,571,124	$63,152,514

Capital liabilities	3,217,661,971	154,020,314

F. T. F. Lovejoy, president of the Belle of Thunder Mountain Mining Company, has issued a circular to stockholders, reviewing the progress of the development of the property, the causes delaying the plans for making it a paying mine, and suggesting a plan for its organization, which will take care of the floating debt and provide the cash for equipping the mine and placing it upon a paying basis.

The work during the past year and a half has only absorbed all the funds in the treasury, but also required the additional sums of $100,000 each in the shape of loans for purchase of stock and $25,000 loaned to the company by Mr. Lovejoy and J. C. Russell. The liquidation of this loan and the provision of sufficient capital to equip the mine and place it upon a profitable basis requires the raising of between $500,000 and $600,000 within the next two months. Mr. Lovejoy's plan for accomplishing this is the organization of a new company with $5,000,000 capital to be known as the Sunnyside Mining Company, which will assume all the liabilities of the old company and permit the conversion of stock on the following basis: Two shares of Sunnyside Mining Company stock for one share of Belle of Thunder Mountain preferred stock and one share of Sunnyside stock for three shares of Belle of Thunder Mountain common stock. President Lovejoy expresses his faith in the great value of the properties of the company, which are located in Idaho county, Idaho, but says that unless the plan of reorganization is accepted and additional capital immediately raised there is great danger of the property being lost to present stockholders. The development work so far done has blocked out between 900,000 and 1,000,000 tons of ore, 1,200 consecutive analyses of which show an average of $7.23 in free gold, the value of the ore running as high as $9 a ton. It has been decided, if the plan of reorganization is indorsed, to treat the ore by the cyaniding process.

BILLET DEMAND GROWS STRONGER

Market Is Rather Better Than Supply, and the Prices Are Rising Sharply.

GENERAL STEEL TRADE NOTES

The demand for billets, both Bessemer and open-hearth, at present exceeds all expectations. It is being reflected in the pig iron market. Bessemer iron being stronger than for some time past. The urgency of the need for billets is such that prices are at least $3 higher than a month ago, the lowest quotation on billets at Pittsburgh being now $24. From all appearances the price will not stop there.

It is stated that one of the largest independent steel companies is in the market for its own supply, the demands for its finished lines being large enough to make its billet supply far short of its requirements.

The general market in the finished lines is strong, there being no evidence of weakening in prices at any point. Certain lines of the steel business are working to their utmost capacity, and many mills are booked with orders for months ahead. An official of one of the largest companies in the United States Steel Corporation is quoted as saying that his company would be busy were its capacity doubled.

The ore shipments to this district at present are breaking all records. The business of the Bessemer railroad, the Carnegie ore line, in July, exceeded the best previous month in its history, 655,000 tons of ore being handled. That this road will reach 5,000,000 tons in its ore shipments in 1905 seems certain, its best previous record having been 4,087,000 last year. The same is true of the Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and Baltimore & Ohio railroads, all of which are handling an enormous ore tonnage.

The coke situation is strong with prices holding well, but the demand is by no urgent as at times in the earlier months of the year. This is true of both furnace and foundry coke.

The Hardware Market.

Hardware business continues to move along in a good manner for early August, the volume of trade being considerably in excess of the same period last year, along general lines. On builders' hardware, house furnishing goods and carpenters' tools, conditions are satisfactory. Nails and wire move out in good volume, orders continuing to come in from salesmen and from the trade generally. Demand for window glass is strong, the trade buying for their present wants and for their summer needs, keeping their stocks in good shape for fear of late start of the glass houses. Prices on window glass are very firm at present, but they are bound to be seen higher than they are at present. Prices along general lines continue firm, there being no changes noted. The Bindley Hardware Company offers the following quotations:

Columbia pocket knives, discount 35 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount 40 and 10 per cent; Bindley camal shovels, $6 50 a dozen; Great Western files, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sheet iron, base No. 28, 3.25 the 100 pounds; galvanized sheet iron, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sash weights a ton, 4.24; window glass (for immediate acceptance only) first and second brackets B single, 90 per cent off list October 1, 1904; all other sizes, single and double, 83 per cent off list October 1, 1904; Albion sewing machines, discount 25 per cent; blue and white enameled ware, 40 and 10 per cent; Albion hot plates, 40 per cent; Albion lanterns, 45 per cent; hay forks, 60 per cent.

BLAST FURNACE FIGURES SHOW SLIGHT DECREASE

Reports Indicate Large Sales Have Been Made for Future Delivery—Demand for Rails Is Large.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9.—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say: Our blast furnace statistics for July show a production of 1,719,723 tons, against 1,822,885 tons in June, a decrease of 5.6 per cent. As the intense heat of July and the humidity of the atmosphere interfered to a considerable extent with the operation of many furnaces, this decrease in production is not large.

While there has been an increase in stocks held by merchant furnaces, the reports indicate large sales have been made for future delivery. On the whole, the statistics reveal a more favorable condition than was expected. A sale of 15,000 tons of basic pig iron has been made by a Tennessee company, on the basis of $13.00, Birmingham.

The United States Steel Corporation has signified its desire to confer with the Bessemer association late this month in regard to the purchase of pig iron for September delivery. The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company has made a contract for 20,000 tons of open-hearth rails for delivery in 1906, delivery to begin in April and to be made at 5,000 tons a month. There are now pending inquiries for 150,000 tons of rails for export and for domestic use.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points under European selling and lower cables. Reports of continued cold weather in Brazil seemed to attract little attention, but leading trade interests here were buyers and prices ruled generally steady after the opening. The close was steady, net unchanged to 5 points lower, with sales reported of 40,250 bags, including September at 7.05@7.10c; December, 7.35@7.40c; May, 7.70@7.75c; spot No. 7, steady; mild steady. Sugar, raw firm; fair refining, 3c; centrifugal, 96 test, 4⅜c; molasses sugar, 3⅛c; refined steady.

MARKET CONDITIONS NOW SETTLING DOWN

Flour Is Easing Off and Sugar Is Firmer, While Produce Prices Are Lower.

Market conditions have eased off considerably during this week and there is not so much uncertainty regarding prices, especially in the grocery trade. Flour looks weaker, although business is improving somewhat. The canning is growing slightly, and at northwestern and western mills it is announced buyers are beginning to take hold readily. The present quotations are being shaded some on five-barrel lots, and it is probable that a further reduction may be announced in a day or two. Sugar is decidedly firmer than it was, and, the canning season approaching its height, is expected to make a decided difference in the market.

In the green goods and produce lines there is comparatively little of special interest. Business is good, but farmers and hucksters have taken off the rush and the busy season for the regular dealers is over for the summer. Prices have generally been marked down. Potatoes, which threatened a fabulous figure a week or ten days ago, have got back to their former price and are now ranging around 50 cents a bushel.

Butter, eggs and cheese continue strong. Poultry has been weakening for a couple of weeks and prices are now quite reasonable. In fact, spring chicken is now as cheap as aged beefsteak.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 284 cars; cars, 3½ cars corn, 7 cars hay, 1 cars straw, 1 car feed, 4 cars rye; Baltimore & Ohio, 1 car oats, 1 car corn, 4 cars hay; Lake Erie, 1 car oats, 1 car rye.

Hay continues in fair demand, as receipts are not heavy. Oats arriving are mostly new grade, and old oats have been cut out of quotations. They are arriving in good condition and selling at less than hay-down cost. No change in advance is price is at all improbable. Corn is a little weaker.

Straw continues dull.

RUMORS OF DAMAGE STRENGTHEN WHEAT

Market Has Firm Undertone Throughout Its Entire Session. Provisions Are Up.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Rumors of damage to the Russian crop stopped the drop in the wheat market here today. The September delivery closed 1@1½c up. Corn and oats are practically unchanged. Provisions are up 7½@12½c.

Wheat had a firm undertone throughout the entire session, but the volume of trading was small, September opened unchanged to ¼c higher at 79@79¾c. The initial firmness was due chiefly to higher prices at Liverpool in the face of a decline here yesterday. Russian newspapers according to a Reuter authority are advocating the prohibition of wheat exports. This agitation, coupled with news of a British character from Russia, was said to be responsible for the unexpected firmness at Liverpool on the other hand, weather in the northwest was almost perfect for harvesting, and there was a continuance of liberal receipts at primary points. The cable gained some encouragement from a few reports of damage to the crop in North Dakota.

Corn was dull, with small changes in values and commission houses. Offerings were not large. For September the highest point of the day was reached at 47½c. The market closed firm, with September at 47@47½c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 181,300 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,104,000 bushels, compared with 840,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago report receipts of 331 cars, against 422 cars last week and 1,196 cars a year ago.

From reports from districts of damage by hot, dry weather caused a firm tone in the corn market. Several prominent bulls were in the pit early in the session. A prominent advocate of the price of corn at Liverpool who is additional bullish influence. The market closed steady, September opened unchanged to ¼c higher at 47½c, and closed at 47@47½c.

Oats were firm in sympathy with other grain. Receipts were somewhat lighter than expected and the market was steadier in consequence. Prices opened unchanged to ¼c higher at 32@32½c, and held within the limits of yesterday's closing at 32½c. Local receipts were 222 cars.

Provisions were strong on active support

Good Fifth Sand Producer on Elk Run, Lewis County

After several months of nothing better than small pumpers, the fifth sand development on Elk run, Freemans Creek district, Lewis county, has presented a good producer. It is the Crude Oil Company's No. 4 on the J. and L. B. Gall farm and is estimated to be good for from 60 to 80 barrels a day. This is a much better showing than has been the rule in that locality. In the past the best have not been good for more than 30 barrels a day.

In Geary district, Roane county, near the Kanawha county line, Senator McDermitt, Elkins & Swisher have drilled a wildcat on the Martin Young farm into the Big Injun sand and have developed a very strong gusher. The well has an estimated capacity of 4,000,000 cubic feet a day. This is by far the largest gusher that has been found in that county. In the Wallace district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the Sprout Woodfield farm through the strey and has a gasser.

In the Burning Springs district, Wirt county, the Ohio Oil Company has completed its No. 11 on the Kidwell farm and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the Big Injun.

Dusters and light pumpers figured to a large extent in the developments on the Ohio side. A 30-barrel producer is now the exception in any part of Southeastern Ohio, Washington county is furnishing the greatest number of completions. In the Wolf creek district, the Pure Oil Producing Company has drilled in its No. 6 on the N. E. Russell farm and has a show for a very light pumper. In the same district R. D. Crawford has completed No. 4 on the John Lightner farm and has a duster. In the Rays run district, the Vesperine Oil Company has completed its test on the Newman farm and has a duster in all sands, including the Big Injun. In the Jerusalem district, Monroe county, Miller, Searles & Co. have drilled their test on the William Trey farm through the Keener and have a duster. In the Macksburg field, in Washington county, the Peoples Natural Gas Company has drilled its second test on the D. R. Schank farm through the Germantown sand and has a show for a seven-barrel pumper in that formation.

In the new development on Wells creek, in Jefferson county, when Brookhaver & Mitchell drilled their test on the farm of the Vaughan heirs' farm a few days ago it was reported a duster. Since then it has been shot twice, with 40 and 90 quarts, respectively, and will now make a hard pumper. The result of the shots has prevented the pool from securing its full quarter. In the Cadiz district, in Harrison county, the Ohio Oil Company has completed its No. 5 on the Rosser heirs' farm and has a show for a 12-barrel pumper in the Big Lime.

IOWA CENTRAL OPENS AN OFFICE

Harry Corbett Placed in Charge of Commercial Agency. Honor for E. F. Lalk.

FREIGHT ROUTING IS CHANGED

The Iowa Central Railway Company has decided that Pittsburgh is too important a point in the traffic world to go without a representative for the company's interests. Accordingly a commercial agency was formally opened here yesterday, with Harry M. Corbett in charge. Mr. Corbett needs no introduction to the traffic men of this district. He will have his office in the Bessemer building, where about 20 representatives of initial and foreign lines are domiciled.

The matter of establishing the office here with Mr. Corbett in charge was definitely settled yesterday by Assistant General Freight Agent J. R. Veitch of Chicago, who has supervision of the eastern traffic business of the Iowa Central. Mr. Veitch himself traveled into this territory for a number of years, and he knows the value of Pittsburgh's tonnage for his road. He was promoted from general agent of the freight department at Indianapolis to assistant general freight agent at Chicago less than a year ago, and Mr. Corbett was at that time placed in charge of Pennsylvania and New York, traveling from Indianapolis. Mr. Veitch said yesterday that it is the intention to increase the force here in a couple of months.

Mr. Corbett is recognized as a good pugilist in a railroad business-getting sense. He started with the Erie a dozen years ago in a minor position. From that road he went to the Pittsburgh & Western as division freight agent at Youngstown. For the next few years he was in the newspaper business, and a couple of years ago accepted service with the Iowa Central.

This road owns 560 miles of roadway and operates about 1,360 miles. Its main line extends from St. Paul to Peoria, a distance of 450 miles. It operates seven branches to this main line, the branches ranging from 17 to 59 miles in length.

Pittsburgh Exceeds Seven Cities.

The record of Pittsburgh's total tonnage exceeding the combined tonnage of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago is given another phase of meaning in a report just issued to its traffic representatives by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe system. This report shows that the system's traffic from this district exceeds the combined traffic for the road from all of the eastern territory, including the agencies at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit and Cincinnati. It is from these agencies that the business for the road is secured from the east. The report is a well-merited honor to General Agent E. F. Lalk and his force of hustling men who look after the company's freight business in this territory. The Pittsburgh office reported a tonnage exceeding by 900 tons that of the other agencies combined.

This splendid record shows well the vast development of the Pittsburgh district in the past few years, and it cannot be recognized other than the greatest tonnage-producing center of the whole world, exceeding the five largest ocean ports of the world. Whether the Santa Fe's record can be duplicated by any other roads could not be learned yesterday, but it is known that all of the roads have come to recognize Pittsburgh as the first place of interest in traffic. New York is nowadays considered secondary to Pittsburgh by the executive officers in charge of traffic and by the traffic managers of all the roads of the country. The best men are sent to Pittsburgh to represent their companies' interests.

Betters Freight Movement.

A new method of handling freight on the Monongahela division of the Pennsylvania railroad has resulted in the saving of from 7 to 12 hours in the freight in transit. For several months the freight cars have been made up into trains at Shire Oaks yard for routing to the Conway yard on the Fort Wayne. This method has been temporarily abandoned and the trains are made up at West Brownsville Junction and are sent through to Conway. This change, it is understood, has become necessary because of the heavy traffic being handled by the Monongahela division at the Shire Oaks yard.

This is a new terminal and has been in use only a few months. While a large amount of yard trackage has been provided, it has been found too small and arrangements are under way for enlarging the yard and rearranging the trackage so as to give rapid movement in the making up of trains. In addition to the coal and coke handled there, there are many cars of steel products handled daily. The yard will be doubled in capacity, the new portion occupying the space between the main running tracks and the river. Considerable grading will be necessary to place the plot of ground in shape for the new yard. A series of gravity tracks will be one of the features.

Local Railroaders Will Be Heard.

At the thirty-sixth annual convention of the Master Car and Locomotive Painters' association, which will be held in Cleveland, September 12-15, two Pittsburgh officers will speak. W. O. Quest, master painter of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad at McKees Rocks, will be heard on the subject, "Preservation of Steel Cars from Decay: What New Developments Has the Past Year Brought About?" Upon the same subject are two other speakers—T. J. Donahaugh, foreman of car painters of the Pennsylvania lines at Ft. Wayne, Ind., and J. H. Kahler of the Erie railroad at Meadville. This is one of the most important and most difficult subjects facing the railroads at present, and the reports of a year's close study by the three officers will be awaited with much interest. Another subject upon which a Pittsburgh railroad man will speak is: "Are Locomotives Properly Cleansed While in Service? If So, by What Method and Material?" This subject will be presented by David Murray, foreman of car painters of the Pennsylvania at Pittsburgh. Six other subjects of interest will be presented and six queries are to come before the convention for discussion.

Promotion for G. N. Dow.

George N. Dow, the well-known master car builder of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railway, whose headquarters have been at Collinwood, O., has been promoted to the newly-created position of mechanical inspector of the system. His headquarters will be at Cleveland. Mr. Dow's former position has been abolished and the work performed by that office has been divided between S. K. Dickson, master mechanic, and M. D. Franey, superintendent of shops. Mr. Dow is well-known among Pittsburgh railroad men, and is recognized as one of the most able mechanical department men in American railroading. He is one of the most active members of the Railway club of Pittsburgh.

Ramsey Enjoying North Sea Trip.

A cablegram received from President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash railroad, gives evidence that he and his family have been enjoying the tour of Norway and the North cape district. The party was in Christiana yesterday, will be in Copenhagen today, and will arrive at Hamburg Saturday. The members of the party are in excellent health. Mr. Ramsey expects to reach New York early in September.

Bonebrake Becomes a Pittsburgher.

P. A. Bonebrake, who recently advanced to superintendent of the Pittsburgh division of the southwest system, Pennsylvania lines west, as successor to Robert E. McCarty, who was advanced to general superintendent, will become a Pittsburgh citizen tomorrow when he occupies a pretty home in the East End. He has been at Logansport for the past few days arranging for the removal of his household goods from that city to Pittsburgh. Mr. Bonebrake was a resident of this vicinity several years ago when he was stationed here as engineer maintenance of way of the Pittsburgh division.

Railroad Notes.

A. E. Rudd, assistant signal engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Frank Rhea, engineer maintenance of way of the Logansport division of the Pennsylvania lines west, have been appointed a special Pennsylvania system commission to inspect the signal systems of the western railroads.

The Lima Eastern Railway Company of Lima, O., has been incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000 to build a line from Lima to Marion, O., the power to be gasoline.

It is expected that the air brake tests being conducted at Scully yard by Panhandle officers will be completed today.

The International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen is holding its convention at Toronto, Can.

Among the railroad men in the city were W. J. Leahy, assistant general passenger agent of the Rock Island, of St. Louis, and H. J. Bergemann, traveling agent of the Wisconsin Central at St. Paul. Mr. Bergemann stopped over in Pittsburgh to visit Traveling Agent W. H. Allen, and to see his former friend, Assistant General Passenger Agent J. P. Taggart of the Baltimore & Ohio.

Erakeman James Doran, of the Pennsylvania's Monongahela division will leave Saturday for a fishing trip along the lakes.

W. G. Theiss, chief clerk to Third Vice President J. T. Turner of the Pennsylvania lines west, has returned from a sojourn of three weeks at Mackinac.

When Thomas R. Stewart, former master mechanic at Cumberland for the Baltimore & Ohio, started for his new position in a similar capacity at the Mt. Clare shops, Baltimore, he was given a cheering farewell by almost every railroad man in Cumberland at the Virginia avenue crossing in South Cumberland.

RAILROAD FILES ANSWER TO SUIT

Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Denies Right of Wabash to Build Its Branch.

ANSWERS HIS WIFE'S RULE

In the equity suit of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal railway to prevent the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad from interfering with the construction of the Carson street extension the defendant company filed a printed answer. The case is now pending in the superior court on an appeal of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, which was restrained in accordance with the prayer of the complainant. The appeal is an amicable one and acts as a supersedeas to the restraining order.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company incorporates in its answer its contentions at the trial. Among other things, it is alleged the extension is not a branch of the Wabash within the meaning of the acts of congress. Its erection on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie property is questioned on the ground that the city has taken no steps to actually widen Carson street by using the defendant's property.

Asa W. Emrick filed an answer to the rule granted on him on the petition of his wife, Anna I. Emrick, for alimony and counsel fees in the divorce proceedings she has brought against him. He denies her charge of cruel and barbarous treatment, which she alleges in her libel filed December 17, 1904, and says ample time has elapsed since its filing for her to have taken testimony and had a decree made if she is entitled to one. He says his wife entered the proceedings while they were living in Allegheny. He says he continued to live with her until February, 1905, when he was driven from home, she, he alleges, telling him "take his clothes and go." He says he told this, leaving her in possession of a 10-room house, completely furnished, and with $300 in the bank. He says she now keeps roomers and should thus receive enough for her maintenance. Emrick says he keeps himself and their two children, and he asks the court to discharge the rule.

In the divorce proceedings of Sylvester A. Shaw against Mollie B. Shaw, the deposition of C. W. Lyman has been filed on behalf of the libellant for use at the trial. He is a brother-in-law of the respondent, but his wife, her sister, is dead. He testified that Mrs. Shaw advised her brother and a brother of the witness to beat Shaw. The witness did not know whether both men followed her advice or not, but he said his brother had beaten Shaw.

Gertrude Kogler of Carnegie, by her will filed yesterday, leaves an estate of $5,000 to her husband and brother. Attorney George J. Kambach represents the estate.

Executions issued: Eliza S. Barnes, use, vs. Henry Engelhardt, $886; John Arbuckle et al. vs. Frank Sacani et al., $1,421; W. J. Brown vs. E. I. Sweeney, $177; Baird Machinery Company vs. Pittsburgh Blue Print Company, $1,417; same vs. J. H. Lytle, $1,417; same vs. Adin L. Sallor, $1,417.

A charter has been asked by the Bohemian Gymnastic Association "Rip of Allegheny. "Rip," the applicants state, is the Bohemian for a mountain of that country.

CARS RUN AWAY.

Pittsburgh Railways Company Loses Three Cars in Runaways During Week.

For the third time within a week the Pittsburgh Railways company has had a car demolished in a runaway. A Bellevue car on the Thomas avenue route ran down the hill from the end of the line shortly before midnight Tuesday and plunged over the ravine at Forest avenue. The crew had left the car before it started and there were no passengers aboard.

A similar accident occurred at the same place Sunday night, when both the motorman and conductor were injured. On Tuesday night a car on the Brighton road line ran away on the grade between the Uniondale cemetery and Washington avenue and, jumping the track, crashed into a stable, tearing out the wall. No one was injured. All three cars were almost totally smashed.

Many towboats in the local harbor are being repaired and others are kept busy taking care of the great fleets of coal which are stored between the mouth of the two Miami rivers, which comprise the harbor of Cincinnati. The United States government snagboat E. A. Woodruff, under the command of Capt. Christian, is operating in the harbor. The Robert P. Gillham arrived today from the Kanawha river mines with a tow of coal. She was late on account of delays due to the weather. She will be sent back as soon as possible with a tow of empties. OBJECT TO NEW BRIDGE.

Projectors of Drawbridge at Brunots Island Meet With Protests.

Rivermen are opposed to the proposed drawbridge over the back channel of the Ohio river from McKees Rocks to Brunots island. A hearing is scheduled for August 23 before Major W. L. Sibert. The objection of the rivermen is that this back channel makes an excellent harbor for coal boats. The new bridge would have three piers in 500 feet of length, with a draw that would be 25 feet above the water line. The steamer channel would be 250 feet wide. Rivermen are opposed to the piers and the height of the bridge.

The Queen City was unable to reach this city yesterday and sent her passengers up by rail from Rochester. Heavy fogs also gave the boat trouble on her up trip.

The Columbia was about 10 hours late getting in from Morgantown yesterday, owing to heavy fogs.

The Bessie Smith will arrive today from Parkersburg, taking the place of the Ben Hur during the low water. She will bring the freight of the Queen City from Rochester.

The American public used over three million last year. Give immediate relief — do not affect the heart. At all Druggists.

TO ISSUE NEW MONEY ORDER.

One That Will Be Proof Against Forgers Has Been Evolved by Mr. Cortelyou.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Before leaving for his vacation Postmaster General Cortelyou directed the issuance of a new form of money order which, it is believed, will be proof against alteration at the hands of forgers.

Although the direct loss falls entirely upon those who accept the orders, the department refusing to cash them except as originally drawn, there has been a heavy indirect expense involved in the pursuit, arrest and conviction of the offenders.

M'KEESPORT'S FURNACE TO BEGIN WORK TODAY

McKeesport's repaired garbage furnace will be the center of interest in that city this morning, when the first consignment of garbage that has been burned in the city for several months, will be thrown into the ovens for a test. The fires were lighted at midnight for the first time, and the ovens were slowly heated up so as to not injure the new masonry. The first shovelful of refuse will be thrown into the furnace by Mayor Falkenstein.

"Her First False Step."

"Her First False Step," admittedly one of the best dramas of its class, will be the offering at the Bijou next week. The play is in five acts, each one affording splendid material for the unfolding of a very interesting story, full of humor, pathos and heart interest. There are a number of clever comedy scenes and several pleasing specialties. A thrilling climax at the end of the fourth act is the daring rescue of a child from a den of lions, making one of the most novel incidents ever introduced in melodrama.
